

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea broadcast Wednesday "a confession" from the captain of the USS Pueblo, quoting him as saying he was spying for the Central Intelligence Agency and was deep inside North Korea's territorial waters when his ship was captured.

The statement concluded with a reference to "parents and wives and children" waiting anxiously at home for the Pueblo crew's release. The fact that the North Koreans included that seemed to raise at least the possibility that the release was being considered.

The English-language text of an 800-word statement attributed to Cmdr. Lloyd Mark Bucher, commander of the intelligence ship, said he spied on the ports of Chongjin and Wonsan, "detected the radar network, accommodation capacities of the ports," the number of ships entering and leaving and the maneuverability of North Korean naval craft.

North Korean patrol ships opened fire on the Pueblo, seized her and the 83-man crew, and took her into the east coast port of Wonsan.

The statement attributed to Bucher said one crewman was killed and three were wounded.

While under attack, the Pueblo had radioed that four were wounded.

The statement as reported by the Korean Central News Agency used several examples of stereotyped phraseology that are familiar in Communist propaganda, leading to speculation as to the circumstances under which it was made. The North Korean broadcast gave no clue.

In Washington, the Defense Department denounced as "a travesty on the facts" the North Korean claim that the Pueblo's commander had confessed intruding into North Korean waters.

"The style and wording of the document provide unmistakable evidence in themselves that this was not written or prepared by an American," Asst. Secretary of Defense Phil G. Goulding said in a statement read to newsmen. He also disclosed the Pueblo was under orders to stay at least 13 miles from North Korean territory.

At one point the statement attributed to Bucher said: "My crime committed by me and my men is entirely indelible."

This terminology was not expanded. One definition of "indelible" denotes inability to wash away or blot out something.

"I have no excuse whatsoever for my criminal act as my ship intruded deep into the territorial waters of the Democratic Republic of North Korea and was captured by the naval patrol craft of the Korean People's Army in their self-defense action while conducting the criminal espionage activities," the statement said.

At the conclusion, the statement quoted Bucher as expressing hope that he and his crew "will be forgiven leniently" by North Korea, and saying: "Our parents and wives and children at home are anxiously waiting for us to return home in safety."

This was the gist of the statement attributed to Bucher: His ship was sent to Sasebo, Japan, to carry out assignments given by the Central Intelligence Agency "to detect the areas along the far east of the Soviet Union and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea."

The ship was disguised as one engaged in oceanic research and left the port of Sasebo.

"It was on Jan. 16, 1968, that we entered the coastal waters of the Democratic Republic of Korea via the Soviet maritime province."

The Pueblo made ocean tests and observations but also spied on the ports and on various military installations and the deployment of armed forces along the east coast, he was quoted.

The statement said when the North Korean naval craft appeared, the Pueblo opened fire and tried to escape—contrary to the Pentagon version that the ship did not use its two machine guns.

"But the situation became more serious for us, and thus one of my men was killed, another heavily wounded and two others lightly wounded," the statement continued. "We had no way out and were captured by the navy patrol craft . . ."

"Having been captured now, I say frankly that our act was a criminal act which flagrantly violated the armistice agreement and it was a sheer act of aggression."

Rear Adm. John V. Smith, the senior delegate, accused the Communists of "criminal board ing" and seizing the Pueblo in international waters.

Maj. Gen. Park Choong-kook, the senior North Korean delegate, answered with a tirade contending the Pueblo was in territorial waters on a spy mission.

Overnight, Clark Clifford, new defense secretary, has become the most powerful figure in the Cabinet.

THE NATION
Demands are raised in Congress for strong and prompt action to obtain the release of the USS Pueblo despite cautions against military retaliation.

There is a possibility North Korea's seizure of the Pueblo was a challenge to the Soviet Union as well as to the United States.

The National Farmers Organization's grain market boycott, now two weeks old, has had almost a negligible effect on major markets. The NFO says it's still too early.

Vietnamese Heavy Artillery Hits Marines Khe Sanh Base

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese heavy artillery hit the U.S. Marines' Khe Sanh base for the first time in two barages late Wednesday. The big shellbursts all but muffled an accompanying rain of mortar and rocket fire on the northern frontier post.

The two shellings signaled a stepped-up confrontation in the hill country of South Vietnam's northwestern tip. American defenders are deployed along the zone that borders North Vietnam in expectation of a major Communist offensive.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon said the North Vietnamese pounded the area around the Khe Sanh base and military airfield with 250 rounds of artillery and rockets in an attack that lasted an hour and 40 minutes. Late Wednesday night they followed up with a one-hour barrage.

An incomplete report indicated one Marine was killed and 12 were wounded in the Wednesday action, headquarters said. The Khe Sanh sector, under

North Vietnamese pressure since attacks started last Saturday, currently is the most critical point in the northern frontier where massive allied and enemy troop concentrations raised a possibility of the war's biggest battles.

Between 32,000 and 40,000 North Vietnamese are believed deployed along the demilitarized zone and just below it. Opposing them are more than 50,000 allied troops, mostly U.S. Marines.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up their 10-day campaign of saturation bombings near Khe Sanh. Three raids by the giant bombers Wednesday night and Thursday morning hit at troop concentrations, trail networks and an ammunition storage depot.

Northeast monsoons again cut into U.S. strikes over North Vietnam on Wednesday. All missions, except a strike on a missile site 15 miles northeast of Hanoi, were in the southern panhandle. Other U.S. fighter-bombers raked North Vietnamese artillery and antiaircraft positions in the DMZ.

LBJ Asks Extension Of Arms Control Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Wednesday to extend for three years the life of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, declaring "the ultimate test of our century" is confining nuclear power to peaceful uses.

Johnson noted the agency's key role in installation of the Washington-Moscow hot line and in the new treaty aimed at banning nuclear weapons from space. Then he said:

"Now the energy and perseverance of the agency has brought us close to the next great step forward: A treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons."

The agency is due to expire June 30 unless Congress keeps it alive. The President, in letters to the presiding officers of the House and Senate, urging its continuance, said:

"If men can join together with their neighbors to harness the power of nuclear energy for peaceful progress, they can transform the world. If not, they may well destroy the world."

The agency's director, William C. Foster, is chief U.S. negotiator in talks with other nations, especially the Soviet Union, aimed at halting the spread of nuclear weapons.

Johnson's message noted that the United States and Russia have agreed to a complete draft of a proposed nonproliferation treaty.

"We believe such a treaty represents the most constructive way to avoid the terrible dangers in the criminal waste which all men recognize would flow from the further spread of nuclear weapons," Johnson said.

The President added that such a treaty would not end international tensions, nor eliminate the shadow of nuclear war but said "it will reduce the chances of nuclear disaster arising from local disputes."

USSR Spurns Pleas To Help Settle Dispute Over Pueblo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and other top administration sources passed the ominous word Wednesday that Russia so far has spurned U.S. pleas to act as go-between with North Korea in settling the Pueblo dispute by diplomatic means.

Officials told newsmen "all appropriate diplomatic channels" were being pursued but they did not rule out the use of force.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk called the North Korean seizure of the U.S. Navy intelligence ship off North Korea Monday night "an act of war."

Rusk advised the North Koreans to "cool it" and said they would be "well advised to pull back here."

The secretary said the United States intends to get back the ship which, with its 83 crewmen, was apparently forced to a North Korean port. Rusk declined to talk about what future course of action this country may take.

The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise and three escorts were reported taking position in the Sea of Japan. South Korean sources in Seoul said the 75,000-ton carrier and its escorts would take station 12 miles off Wonsan Bay to await developments. North Korea maintains its territorial waters extend 12 miles out from shore.

At the White House, the top-level National Security Council, which ponders major strategic moves, met in full dress session on the problem.

One of the first U.S. moves, after the seizure of the 935-ton Pueblo became known, was to ask the Soviet Union to act as a diplomatic channel between the United States and Communist North Korea in hopes of resolving the tense dispute without shooting.

But White House sources said such efforts "have not had satisfactory results."

The same word was circulated elsewhere in the government. White House press secretary George Christian stressed the United States still is hopeful "that the matter still can be settled through diplomatic channels."

But, Christian said, the U.S. government "is organized and planning" under President Johnson's direction to deal with

Demands Grow Sharp For Action to Free Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The initial failure of diplomatic effort to gain release of a U.S. Navy intelligence ship captured by North Korea sharpened demands in Congress Wednesday for military action to free it.

Although Secretary of State Dean Rusk told an informal news conference—after an appearance before a House committee—that seizure of the ship Monday could be described as an "act of war," congressional leaders cautioned against any precipitate retaliation.

But this did not still a chorus of demands in the Senate for what Sen. John Stennis, D. Miss., called "strong and positive action" if negotiations fail to win the release of the Pueblo and its 83 crewmen.

A subsequent White House report that efforts to arrange a settlement through contacts with the Soviet Union "have not had satisfactory results" visibly hardened the position of some. One of these, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R. Utah, urged that the

Crisis Could Lead To Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators warned Wednesday night the United States may use nuclear weapons if war erupts in Korea over the Communist seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D. Wash., said the United States, already committed to a ground war in Vietnam, lacked the manpower to spread in conventional battle around the world.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R.S.C., said he agreed and added, "We will use any weapons if necessary to protect America and her people."

Wilson Says Kremlin Leaders Stick to Hard Line on Vietnam

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said Wednesday Soviet leaders stuck to their hard line on Vietnam in his talks in the Kremlin but he insisted a political settlement must be found.

Shortly before taking off on his return to London, after a 51-hour visit, the British leader said neither side had changed its views on Vietnam. Britain supports U.S. policy in general.

"It is no secret," Wilson said, "that explorations (about Vietnam), probings are going on outside the context of our talks here in the Kremlin. I don't want to say anything that would make them more difficult."

His discussions with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the Communist party general secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and other Soviet leaders were based on recent events related to Vietnamese peace possibilities, he added.

"The Vietnam question has inevitably taken a very high proportion of the time we have spent together," Wilson said. "There is no more urgent or potentially dangerous problem in the world today."

"The Soviet government clearly in private and in public maintained the line that is well known that they hold in these matters."

This is support for North Vietnam and the Viet Cong and condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The problem, Wilson continued, was "how we can get this problem away from the military line—because there will never be a military solution to this problem—and back to a political line that must be the solution to

Pieces of One or More Hydrogen Bombs Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pieces of one or more of four hydrogen bombs aboard an Air Force B52 that crashed Sunday off Greenland have been found, the Pentagon reported Wednesday.

But "it still has not determined whether parts of the plane or of the four nuclear weapons carried on the plane went into or through the ice," the Defense Department said. Left unanswered was whether the bombs are imbedded in the ice or are on the surface.

This was the first official confirmation of reports that the number of nuclear bombs aboard the plane totaled four.

The announcement did not make clear precisely where the parts of the hydrogen bombs were found, but indications were that this was on the thick ice cover over North Star Bay where the plane went down.

The Pentagon said earlier search teams using dog sleds and helicopters found scattered debris and fuel burns near the impact site about seven miles southwest of Thule, Greenland. It said scientists had detected what is described as low-level alpha radiation there.

In revealing that "pieces of weapons-associated hardware were identified among the debris," the Defense Department statement did not say whether significant amounts of the bombs were located. Nor was it clear whether just one bomb or more were involved in the discovery.

The Pentagon has refused to discuss the size of the bombs, but sources indicate they were 1.1-megaton hydrogen bombs—the equivalent explosive force of 1.1 million tons of TNT.

The Pentagon said search operations over the North Star Bay ice, which resembles a frozen ocean of huge waves, is hampered by the polar darkness and deteriorating weather.

Conditions were so bad the teams canceled search efforts the rest of Wednesday.

The six survivors of the crash were listed in good condition.

Co-Editor Loses Appeal, Will Try Again

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Annette Buchanan, the co-ed editor who defied a grand jury's order to reveal confidential news sources, lost Wednesday in her appeal to the Oregon Supreme Court from a contempt of court conviction.

She said promptly that she would appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Miss Buchanan — she now is Mrs. Michael Conard of Portland but the case was handled in her maiden name — was fined $300 for refusing to name seven University of Oregon students who gave her information for a news story about marijuana on the campus. She was editor of the student daily, the Emerald.

Dist. Atty. William Frye took her before the Lane County Grand Jury and pressed for the names. She said she had promised anonymity to the students and would not give them. Nor did she do so later when Circuit Judge Edward Leavy ordered her to.

As a result the judge held her in contempt and fined her $300.

SEIZED IN INTERNATIONAL WATERS

The U.S. Navy intelligence-gathering ship, USS Pueblo, carrying 83 men was boarded by armed sailors and forced into the North Korean port of Wonsan early Tuesday.

The Defense Department announcement said the Pueblo, described as a modified auxiliary light cargo ship, was surrounded by four North Korean patrol boats in international waters.

Committee Splits Action On Tax Exemption Package

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Constitutional Convention's Taxation and State Finance Committee approved Wednesday a proposal to continue exempting most public and charitable institutions from local property taxes.

However, the tax panel postponed action on a companion proposal that would, in effect, abolish the exemptions now granted the operating facilities of public utilities.

Both proposals had been approved earlier in the day by the subcommittee on Taxation, breaking a week-long stalemate on the controversial issues.

The tax exemption package, adopted 19-10 by the full committee after a three-hour debate, was designed to correct abuses in the present system by tightening the requirements for exemptions.

Under the proposal, tax exempt status would be determined by property use, rather than ownership. Exemptions would be granted only for portions of property "actually and principally" used for educational, charitable or public purpose.

As an example, commercial facilities such as snack bars or barber shops in hospitals would not be tax exempt, but treatment rooms, patient rooms and other facilities would be.

The subcommittee had approved the proposal by a 9-1 vote.

The question of utility exemptions had bogged down the subcommittee for more than a week. The recommendation that finally emerged was passed, 5-4, with one member absent.

The proposal would permit the state to impose a real estate tax on operating facilities, such as power generating plants, with the revenues to be returned to local government units.

Under the plan, the General Assembly would be responsible for dividing "a fair and equitable" system of distributing the revenue, using such factors as population and the ratio of exempt real property to taxable real property in reaching a decision.

If the legislature did not see fit to levy such a tax, local governments would be free to levy property taxes on the utilities.

The Constitution does not exempt utilities from local taxes, but the practice has been condoned over the years through a series of court decisions. Utilities do pay the state a gross receipts tax.

Such committee members said it would make more sense to return all or a portion of the gross receipts tax to local communities rather than levy a real estate tax. Others argued this would put a hole in the state's treasury.

In other convention developments Wednesday:

— The Judiciary Committee approved a proposal for a "merit system" of election for state judges and local options to decide how district-level judges should be elected.

— Representatives of the Philadelphia Board of Magistrates appeared before the Judiciary Committee to ask that their powers be enlarged. Several proposals to abolish the minor judiciary system are before the committee.

— The Local Government Committee adopted a proposal to delete the county offices of coroner and surveyor from the Constitution.

During a brief floor session, the full convention read for the first time a proposal to retain the present 50-seat Senate and 203-member House.

Man Injured In Accident On Route 17

FLUVANNA, N.Y. — A 22-year-old Jamestown man was hurt Wednesday night in an accident near the Fountain Bowl on Route 17. Eric vonReyn of 214 Thayer st. was taken to WCA Hospital for treatment of facial lacerations.

Town of Ellicott policeman Richard Johnson said the vonReyn auto struck the rear of a car operated by 33-year-old Diane J. Gronquist of 427 S. Main st., Jamestown.

According to the police report, the accident occurred as the Gronquist auto was slowing down to enter the Fountain Bowl parking area. The woman's auto after being struck, continued into the parking lot and struck two parked cars.

Report Castro May Possibly Resign

HAVANA (AP) — An official reference to Fidel Castro as general secretary of Cuba's Communist party touched off speculation Wednesday that Castro might resign as prime minister to concentrate on control over the party.

The party's central committee met amid rumors that Castro's brother, Raoul, was favored to succeed him as prime minister. Raoul now is deputy prime minister and chief of the armed forces.

A one-paragraph announcement in the official Communist organ Granma said the committee meeting was called in the name of the eight-man politburo headed by Castro. Granma then referred to Castro as general secretary.

Castro has been first secretary, rather than general secretary, since the party was formed in October 1965.

The announcement of the meeting was unusual in itself. Most meetings of the committee are unannounced. There was no indication when results of the session would be made known.

Castro resigned once before, briefly, as prime minister in the early days after his take over in Havana.

Alternative Service Film

To Be Shown

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. — A film describing alternative service for conscientious objectors under the selective service law is scheduled for a Friday night showing in Jamestown. The film will be shown at 8 p. m. at the James Prendergast Free Library and is open to the public.

The showing is sponsored by the Chautauqua Area Committee for an Enlightened Foreign Policy. Rev. Eugene H. Adams of the Jamestown Unitarian Church, a member of the committee, will lead a discussion following the film.

Will Seek To Impeach Governor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A state representative said Wednesday he will seek to impeach Gov. Shafer in March unless the governor consults the legislature on Pennsylvania's new birth control policy for people on assistance.

Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D. Phila., said in a statement taped for station WCAU-TV, that the new law enables persons on state assistance to "violate the criminal statutes of the commonwealth with taxpayers' money, without consent of the general assembly."

He said that if Shafer continues this policy, "without the consent of the General Assembly, I will file impeachment proceedings against him in March when the General Assembly returns to Harrisburg, because . . . he is assisting single women to violate the criminal statutes of the commonwealth which, he under oath, agreed to defend."

On Jan. 6 the State Department of Welfare announced it would pay for birth control devices, information and services for persons on state medical assistance. The law also enables social workers to refer persons to doctors or clinics for these services.

On Jan. 15th and 17th, WCAU-TV supported the law editorially.

Mullen emphasized that his opposition to the new law was not "merely" because of religious conviction.

"To encourage single women to commit fornication and adultery by giving them contraceptive devices and birth control information is in direct violation of the above criminal statutes and cannot be tolerated by decent thinking people."

Doesn't Pay To Hold Parking Tickets

Persons holding parking tickets issued by Warren borough police may find it an expensive collection, according to Police Justice Martha G. Lawson.

At regular intervals, the justice finds it necessary to crack down on those who have failed to pay their parking fines. One man has already learned the penalty when he handed over $53 including costs for a delinquent ticket, the maximum in such cases.

Mrs. Lawson reminded motorists that parking ticket fines are $1 if paid within 24 hours and $2 after that period. If not paid within five days, a summons is sent. Should the summons be ignored for an additional five days, a warrant is issued.

The police justice emphasized that, under the ordinance, refusal to pay fines, can mean a jail sentence.

Was Seizure of U.S. Ship A Challenge to Soviet Union?

Was Communist North Korea's seizure of a U.S. naval intelligence vessel a challenge to the Soviet Union as well as the United States?

This is a possibility which may dictate a cautious U.S. approach to a situation which could produce a world crisis as perilous as the Cuban missile showdown of 1962.

For a long time, North Korea's regime has been publicly grumbling about the continued presence of U.S. forces in South Korea, implying from time to time that the Soviet Union by no means was doing all it could about the situation.

If the North Koreans intended to maneuver Soviet power into a more active espousal of their cause, they may have considered that the time should be now, when U.S. forces are thinly spread around the world and the Americans are deeply committed in Southeast Asia.

The North Korean Communist party, while publicly bowing to Moscow's ascendancy in world communism, has chosen to straddle the fence in the feud between pro-Moscow and pro-Peking elements of the movement.

Musmanno Wants to Run For Congress

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno wants to run for Congress, Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh said Wednesday.

Musmanno met with Barr in the mayor's office, but declined to discuss details of the meeting. He said, "It was just a confidential, personal chat with a friend of 35 years."

Barr, however, said the jurist wants to run for Congress, and is presumably interested in the seat held by Democratic Rep. Elmer J. Holland of the South Side.

Holland, 74, has been ailing and local party leaders have indicated they'd like to see him retire.

Musmanno said he still has not reached a decision on whether to seek the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat held by Joseph S. Clark.

He took the occasion to rap Clark's trip to Vietnam with his new wife. Musmanno asserted the senator was "concentrating more on enjoying his honeymoon than ascertaining the true conditions in Vietnam."

Field Agents Hired to Ease Racial Tension

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The board of education has approved hiring nine field agents to help ease racial tension, but at least eight of them have indicated they might not take the jobs because two other candidates were rejected.

Monday night the school board approved hiring nine of 11 candidates to the jobs paying $12,500 to $18,500 a year.

Rejected, however, the names of Charles Askew, a teacher at Germantown High School, and Michael A. Gains, executive director of the Mayor's commission on Human Relations in Minneapolis, Minn.

Askew is an official of Teachers Concerned, a predominantly Negro organization formed in a dispute with the Federation of Teachers.

Eight of those approved met Tuesday with school officials and indicated some reservation about taking the job unless Gains and Askew also were hired.

New Commanding Officer Named

A new commanding officer of State Police Troop E-1 headquarters in Lawrence Park, Erie, has been named by Commissioner Col. Frank McKetta.

Scheduled to assume the post as captain Feb. 1 is Robert F. Bamat, currently serving in Punxsutawney as a lieutenant. Bamat will replace Capt. Robert L. Dunham who is being transferred to Regimental Headquarters, Harrisburg.

Capt. Dunham commanded Troop E-1, of which Warren County is a part, since January 7, 1965. Prior to that he served as lieutenant in patrol and traffic in Lancaster.

Lt. Bamat, 51, joined the state police in 1938. He and his wife and five children currently live in Smethport.

A Time for Change

A very rational conclusion has been reached by the Republican leadership of the House of Representatives. That is that a time for change has come to put their system in order.

Admitting that the Legislature has just completed a tortuous year, a year rent with seeming indecision and at times outright mistakes that brought a considerable amount of public attention to this branch of the government, they go on to point out that the difficulties were merely symptoms of a much more serious problem—a definite need for revamping the legislative system.

Seemingly, these lawmakers and others before them have been aware of the need and much consideration has been given toward finding a solution to the problem. But always the proposals offered were based on the assumption that the Legislature itself would institute the changes—with all of the political bickering and maneuvering such legislation would encourage on both sides of the aisle.

For this reason, neither the Democrats nor the Republicans have been anxious to father the demon that would bring so much discord to their ranks and disrupt the meaningfulness of their deliberations. Even though the "need for change" was freely admitted by members of both parties.

But now that public attention has been attracted to the Legislature, and this attention has been of a

How Many Will Clifford Buy?

WASHINGTON -- All the obvious things already have been said about the choice of Clark Clifford as secretary of defense. Since Clifford and Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas were the sole Johnson advisers who opposed the first long bombing pause in 1965, the President has plainly chosen a man who does not suffer from two-mindedness about the Vietnam war.

Since the choice of Clifford was none-the-less applauded by Sen. J. William Fulbright, this was, quite plainly, a politically astute appointment. It was also an appointment agreeable to outgoing Defense Secretary Robert McNamara as was only proper.

negative nature, the need for change has become greater. As has the need for action that will bring about the change. So much so, that new thinking has been applied to finding a workable solution to the "change" problem and this has been responsible for an entirely new approach.

The Republican leaders suggest that a 12-member commission be appointed to review the situation, none of the members being legislators, and report back to both the House and the Senate by the first week of March. Then they go on to suggest that the commission, to insure its bi-partisanship, have as co-chairmen former Governor William Scranton and former Governor George M. Leader.

They believe that this is the only practical way to bring about the needed changes in the legislative system, and they believe that by setting a definite date for the decisions of the commission to be presented its usefulness will not "wither and die on the legislative branch."

Their thinking, this new approach to an old and aging problem, is commendable. Their desire to correct the deficiencies of the legislative system is commendable. And there seems to be no reason the public support needed to encourage their proposal to a successful conclusion shouldn't be just as commendable.

They have provided the vehicle, it's up to the public to supply the go-ahead power.

Savings With Freezers

This year, as food prices head up virtually across the board, it will be more important than ever for you to shop the food sales as they come up.

But to be able to stock up when foods are at bargain prices, especially on meat specials, you will need a home freezer. And to achieve big savings on food, you will need to know how to use your home freezer to its maximum advantage.

Just by shopping regularly and selectively for meat specials, you may be able to save as much as 20-25 per cent on many types and cuts of meat, and as much as 15-20 per cent on your overall meat bill. If your yearly meat bill is $1,000, these savings alone could amount to $150-200.

Solely by stocking up on, and freezing, fruits and vegetables when they are in season and therefore carry lower price tags than when they are out of season, you can save as much as 25-25 per cent on your fruit and vegetable bill.

If you are among the millions of Americans who now have home vegetable gardens, the savings you can achieve through a home freezer can amount to hundreds of dollars each year.

Similarly, if you count time as money, your savings can be worth more hundreds of dollars, simply because you will buy in bulk, freeze and then shop less frequently than you did before. Also, by keeping a variety of extra food stored in your freezer, and cutting down your trips to the neighborhood supermarket, you may save on costs of transportation.

Here is a rundown of yearly home freezer costs, outlined in a new study by U. S. Department of Agriculture economists. The costs are for freezers initially costing $305 for a farm family and $331 for an urban family, with an expected freezer life of 15 years:

	Farm	Urban
Depreciation	$20.33	$22.07
Repairs	3.46	2.62
Electricity	25.73	23.59
Packaging	3.94	3.03
Total:	$53.46	$51.31

Your freezer costs will be less if you pay substantially less than $305 for this appliance; if it does not require any repairs; or if your electricity rates are below the average 1.95 cents per kilowatt-hour assumed in this study.

To maximize your savings on a home freezer:

- 1) Keep the freezer at a temperature of 0 degrees F. or below, to avoid food spoilage. If you plan to freeze a new batch of meat, turn the temperature control as low as it will go the day before so the meat will freeze as quickly as possible.
- 2) Keep foods in your freezer only for the recommended periods of time. As a general rule, this means two to four months for baked goods, one month for ice cream, one year for fruits, eight months for vegetables, three months for fish, two to four months for pork, hamburger and stew meat, and six months to one year for other meats, depending on the type.
- 3) Date each package food you put in the freezer, or at least consume your frozen food on a "first in, first out" basis.
- 4) Stock your freezer as full as feasible for you; the higher the turnover of food, the lower the per pound cost to you.
- 5) Package freezer foods in the amounts you and your family actually are likely to use at one time.
- 6) If your electricity goes off for up to a day or so, it probably won't damage the food in your freezer. But if it stays off longer, you should either take your frozen food to a freezer locker, or put blocks of dry ice in your freezer.

"THAT'S ANOTHER THING I LIKE ABOUT YOU, CLIFF!"

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON--Clark Clifford, the new Secretary of Defense, allots himself three cigarettes a day, and lunches in his elegant paneled office on a sandwich and orange juice. He drinks prune juice as if it were a martini and is as careful of his diet as he is in handling the cases of his clients.

These clients, which range from the far-flung du Pont de Nemours to the Radio Corporation of America, from General Electric to El Paso Natural Gas and Phillips Petroleum, will be the only aspect of Clifford's career the Senate will want to examine.

He has almost never lost a case. One exception was the dispute over the sale of President Kennedy's Georgetown house in 1960. When Kennedy was first elected he sold the small brick house on N Street to Harry Ausbrook for $105,000, then considered a handsome and somewhat inflated price. But Jackie Kennedy changed her mind, decided she didn't want to sell after all; and the President-elect asked Clark Clifford to get the house back.

But Ausbrook retained ex-Secretary of State Dean Acheson in his bid to keep the house. Acheson won. The President-elect was forced to go through with the sale.

Clifford and Acheson, together with Justice Abe Fortas, now on the Supreme Court, today are probably the three advisers closest to Lyndon Johnson. They are consulted on major moves in the war in Vietnam. All three are hawks.

Looking over Merry-Go-Round columns covering the Truman era, we noted an item published June 13, 1946, which read, "A new power in President Truman's entourage is Commander Clark Clifford." Clifford had met Truman through his St. Louis friend, Stuart Symington, then a member of the Truman Little Cabinet. Though ranking only as a naval aide, Clifford came to the front fast.

In June 1946, the war was not quite one year over. Tremendous problems faced the new President. Significant items appeared in the column indicating the man who was chiefly helping Truman make the shift.

On Oct. 12, 1946, it was noted that Clark Clifford had "usurped Harry Vaughan's office near Truman's" and that Vaughan was "outraged." The President himself had to suggest the shift before Vaughan would move.

On Dec. 22, 1946, it was noted that Clifford had begun drafting the State of the Union message. In January he advised Truman to end price controls and war powers. In June 1947 he revamped the entire housing program. In July he wrote Truman's message vetoing the Taft-Hartley Act.

Earlier, in February of that year, he had drafted the Army-Navy merger, a law which he will now have to live with as Secretary of Defense.

By the summer of 1947, the handsome attorney from eastern Missouri had become so powerful

ART BUCHWALD

When in Doubt, Punt

WASHINGTON—"Well, ladies and gentlemen, this has been quite a football game. The heavily favored Johnson Regulars are leading the Democratic Dissenters 56 to 12, and although we're still in the first quarter, there doesn't seem to be much chance of the Dissenters overcoming the Johnson Regulars' lead. As you know, the winner of this ball game gets to play in the Presidential Super Bowl in November, 1968, and all eyes are focused on what is happening here today.

"Leading the attack for the Dissenters is second-string quarterback Gene McCarthy of Minnesota. The first-string quarterback, Bobby Kennedy, a transfer student from Massachusetts to New York, is suited up but is sitting on the bench. A doubtful starter because he was afraid of being permanently injured, Bobby has been working out with the team in practice, but no one knows if he'll get into the game.

"That cheering you hear in the background comes from the Dissenter fans' section of the stadium. In case you can't understand what they're chanting, it's 'We want Bobby.' 'We want Bobby.' Bobby has a blanket around his head as if to drown out the chant.

"During the first quarter, every time Gene McCarthy was thrown for a loss, he got up and looked over at the bench as if to inquire if Bobby were going to come into the game. But so far there has been no indication that Bobby is going to play.

"Coach Lyn Johnson of the Regulars doesn't seem to be too bothered by the McCarthy offense. As a matter of fact, during the game he substituted the regular defense captain, Bob McNamara, and put in Clark Clifford to replace him.

"While Clifford has never played defense before, he got a rousing cheer when he came into the contest.

"There haven't been too many fumbles in the game. The Dissenters just can't seem to get the ball rolling. Their strategy has been listless, and they just can't seem to catch the imagination of the crowd.

"Wait a minute, folks. Wait a minute. Bobby Kennedy has just taken off his blanket and he's starting to warm up with a football with his brother, Teddy. The crowd has gone crazy. Bobby is throwing the ball back and erful inside the White House that he aroused the jealousy of Truman advisers from western Missouri, notably Harry Vaughan. Backing Vaughan were John Steelman and Matt Connelly. It was noted that they were leaking stories about Clifford, and heckled him in staff conferences.

Clifford continued to ghostwrite Truman's messages to Congress, but by 1950 jealousy inside the White House intensified to the point where he bowed out.

It was the opposition of Connelly and Steelman, which caused Clifford to lose his first big case—the merger of Pan American Airways with American Overseas Air Line. Clifford was retained by TWA to block the merger. The CAB was with him. But Truman listened to his anti-Clifford advisers and ruled for the merger.

President Johnson once told a friend: "If you ever get into trouble—if you ever get arrested and need someone to help you out, get hold of Clark Clifford."

For the past 15 years, Clifford has been doing exactly that for some of the biggest corporations in the nation. He was retained by General Electric after it was fined the largest amount in history and had three executives jailed in an anti-trust case.

General Electric today ranges between being the nation's second and fourth largest defense contractor. In 1967 it had defense orders totaling $1,289,800,000. This means that the new Secretary of Defense will be in somewhat the same position Charles E. Wilson of General Motors was in when he became Secretary of Defense. Wilson severed all connections with GM.

Clifford was also hired by du Pont when its stockholders wanted to avoid paying a huge income tax following divestiture of General Motors. Clifford persuaded his friends in Congress to pass a special act saving du Pont millions. His fee, reported to be $1 million, was to be paid over a period of years.

If that fee is still running, Clifford will be in a worse position than either Wilson or Secretary of Defense McNamara who had to sell his stock in the Ford Motor Company. To give up an unpaid, continuing law fee will be a greater sacrifice than selling stock.

However, General Motors ranks ninth as a defense contractor with contracts totaling $625,100,000 in fiscal 1967; while du Pont had $179,600,000 in contracts. Both firms also have research and development grants from the federal government, du Pont having received $1,922,000 in 1966 and General Motors $53,166,000. This money is awarded through the Department of Defense.

The former attorney for du Pont in its dissolution with General Motors will now be in charge of awarding defense contracts and research funds to both, as well as to a hundred or so other corporations. Overnight, therefore, Clark Clifford becomes the most powerful figure in the Cabinet. Another column on his background and his problems will follow.

forth now, and more fans are watching him than are watching the ball game.

"McCarthy is looking over at the bench again, wondering if he will be substituted. Now Kennedy is talking with the coaches. He seems to be in an argument. He's nodding his head. Now he's sitting down on the bench again and is putting a blanket around himself. The fans are booing, but Bobby doesn't seem to be paying any attention.

"The Johnson Regulars are making long yardage, and there doesn't seem to be anything that's going to stop them. They've been running through Bill Fulbright, Mike Mansfield, Ernie Gruening and Joe Clark and have been passing over the heads of George McGovern, Frank Church and Wayne Morse.

"Wait a minute, Bobby's getting up off the bench again. He's thrown off his blanket and he's running up and down. Now he's doing knee bends. The fans are going wild. It looks as if this time he may go in.

"Oh, oh. He's talking to the coaches again. Now he's on the phone again. Now he's talking to the cheer leaders. He picks up a football and is juggling it in his hand as he walks by himself along the sidelines.

"Now he's back at the bench. He shrugs his shoulders, sits down and puts the blanket around himself again and stares out toward the goal line. From where he sits it seems awfully far away."

The heroism of Malta in World War II is officially recognized in the island's post office address, "Malta G. C." The G. C. stands for the George Cross Medal that was awarded to the entire population for its courage during saturation bombings in 1942.

Wait a minute, folks. Wait a minute. Bobby Kennedy has just taken off his blanket and he's starting to warm up with a football with his brother, Teddy. The crowd has gone crazy. Bobby is throwing the ball back and

MASON DENISON

'68 Can Be Fruitful Year

Pennsylvania News Service (ED NOTE: What lies ahead for Pennsylvania's 1968 legislative session? The two floor leaders of the House of Rep.—Republican Rep. Lee A. Donaldson and Democratic Rep. Herbert Fineman—offer their respective views on the subject as guest columnists of Mason Denison.)

By Rep. Herbert Fineman House Democratic Floor Leader

HARRISBURG—If the Republican Party will perform in a responsive and responsible manner this 1968 session can be a most fruitful and beneficial legislative year. I am hopeful that this will come to fruition. But being a realist, I know these hopes can be quickly dashed—just as they were in the desultory, do-nothing 1967 session of the General Assembly.

The 1967 session of the Legislature was the subject of much justified criticism by the press and by the public for its lack of solid accomplishment. This sorry situation came to pass only because of lack of effective leadership on the part of the Republican Party and despite the fact the Democratic Party repeatedly pledged its cooperation in the building of a better Pennsylvania and made every effort to redeem that pledge.

However, 1967 is now behind us and it is now time to face the future. In doing so, I would like to renew on behalf of my Party a pledge I made on the floor of the House on January 30, 1967:

"We, the members of the Democratic Party, look forward to joining with the Republicans in a bi-partisan effort to build a better Pennsylvania; indeed, a 'Commonwealth of Excellence' and a Commonwealth to 'lead the nation.' We request only the opportunity to do so.

One reason that this 1968 session of the Legislature can be indeed a great one is the very fact that the Republican Party failed to honor its program pledges and other commitments this past year.

They failed to act in the fields of Higher Education, Basic Education, Conservation, Insurance, Milk, Consumer Protection, Housing and Urban Affairs and a whole host of other areas.

Despite our pledges of cooperation—pledges we redeemed on the few occasions we were given an opportunity to do so, to wit Constitutional Convention, Civil Rights and a minimal labor program—the Republican-controlled Legislature failed to accomplish anything to solve these problems during the last session.

Recently I wrote to my Republican counterpart Representative Lee A. Donaldson, calling for committee meetings and public hearings during our two-month recess.

I was happy to learn the Republicans plan to hold such meetings in this interim recess period.

We must move immediately to improve primary and secondary education in Pennsylvania, bring higher minimum wages to our school teachers and fiscal relief to our hard pressed local school districts.

In the field of Higher Education, we must implement the Master Plan for Higher Education, free the state colleges from partisan political control, and establish a State Board of Higher Education with its own full-time working staff.

Conservation is a field that cries out for bi-partisan effort, but the Republicans did little, if anything, despite the efforts of such outstanding Democratic conservationists as Representatives John Laundadio, Thomas Foerster and Franklin Kury.

The House passed a good bill to outlaw arbitrary automobile insurance cancellations, but the measure was gutted in the Republican Senate. With Representatives Eugene Gelfand and C. L. Schmitt leading the way, we will do our best to enact worthwhile insurance programs not only in the automobile field, but as well as in the fire insurance area.

There are many pieces of legislation we would like to see enacted; bills that we will help to pass without concern for party sponsorship.

But the basic fact remains that the Republicans have a two-to-one margin in every committee, and unless the Republicans agree to release these bills, they will die.

Once released to the floor, we will throw the full weight of the Democratic Party behind them and indeed help bring Excellence to Pennsylvania.

To sum up: The Democratic Party will not be opposed to legislation for the sake of opposition; we will be a positive force backing good legislation.

Arraigned For Murdering Practical Nurse

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Maurice M. Talley, 25, of Reading, was arraigned Wednesday on a charge of murdering a 23-year-old Reading practical nurse.

Talley, who is being held without bail in Berks County Prison as a parole violator and on other charges, was ordered committed to Schuylkill County Prison to await a preliminary hearing scheduled for 3 p.m. Feb. 2.

He is charged with murdering Patricia M. Sholley, of Hyde Villa, whose body was found Friday near Summit Station, Schuylkill County, frozen and badly beaten around the head. She disappeared Dec. 26.

The next day her car was found on the parking lot of Reading Hospital with items in it which police said indicated foul play.

A widespread search for her body ended Friday when State Police Cpl. Donald W. Holway spotted the shoe of the victim sticking out beneath snow in a deep gully.

Talley has been held in the Berks County prison since Dec. 29 on charges of assaulting a Reading Hospital student nurse and stealing the purse of another practical nurse at the hospital within an hour of the time Miss Sholley disappeared.

Democrats Withhold Support From Reformation Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — A House Republican proposal for a citizens' commission to assess the workings of the legislature and recommend reforms met with less than enthusiastic response from Democratic leaders Wednesday.

"Why do you need a commission to do things you should do yourself?" asked Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline, D. Beaver.

Kline spoke after he and other leaders from both the House and the Senate were briefed on the proposal by House Speaker Kenneth B. Lee, R. Sullivan, and House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allegheny.

Democrats in the Senate and House withheld support from the plan pending further discussions and information on similar commissions in other states.

"We're discussing whether or not to support the proposal," Kline told newsmen after the briefing. "I admit it does have some merit."

House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, said there was some sentiment for the commission to be composed in whole or in part by legislators.

"Everyone is agreed that the legislature has to move in some direction to improve its image," Fineman said. "The question is who should serve on the commission."

"What we need are people with an intimate knowledge of the legislative process, not a group of theorists, idealists and do-gooders with no such knowledge,"

Donaldson said he was anxious to get the proposal in the form of a concurrent resolution, which could be acted on both House and Senate when the General Assembly returns March 4.

"We would hope that all the floor leaders from both sides would support it," Donaldson said.

Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford, said he believed the proposal had "a lot of merit" and that he would refer the matter to the Senate Republican policy committee.

"We're certainly interested in strengthening the legislative process," Stroup said.

Kline said he would not support the appointment of any commission that in his opinion could not do an adequate job of recommending needed reforms in the legislature.

"I am not going to take part in the naming of a window-dressing commission," Kline said. "I told the Republicans that, and I mean it."

The seven-page proposal, announced by the House Republicans on Sunday, specifically stipulated that no present member of the legislature serve on the commission.

They did suggest, however, that the 12-member bipartisan commission include former governors William W. Scranton, a Republican, and George M. Leader, a Democrat.

Convicted for Possession Of Unstamped Cigarettes

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two New York men were convicted Wednesday of illegally possessing unstamped cigarettes during a summary hearing before a justice of the peace.

The men, Walter W. Peters, 25, and Frederick A. White, 26, both of Ridgewood, N. Y., were fined $1,000 each or six months in jail.

Justice of the Peace George E. Funk, who conducted the hearing at his office in the suburb of Wormleysburg, said the men would remain in jail until they paid their fines.

The men were arrested Friday night, State Police said they confiscated 680 cartons of cigarettes from the car in which the men were riding.

Trooper James J. Corbett quoted Peters as saying he paid over $1,300 for the cigarettes in Weldon, N. C.

Pennsylvania's tax recently was raised a nickel to 13 cents a pack despite fears expressed in some quarters that the increase would result in cigarette smuggling.

Patrolman David Heckert of the East Pennsboro Township Police said the men told him they were taking the cigarettes to New York, where the tax is 10 cents a pack.

Microscope Can Now Focus On Single Atom

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — A powerful new microscope that for the first time can focus on a single atom, separate it from thousands of surrounding atoms, and then identify it, has been developed at Pennsylvania State University.

The new instrument — called the atom-probe field ion microscope — was developed by Erwin Mueller, a physics professor, and his associates.

The lensless microscope, described in the current issue of "The Review of Scientific Instruments," is a major refinement and modification of the field ion microscope invented by Mueller in 1956. With that instrument, he was the first man to see an atom.

Although the older microscope magnified metal atoms from two to five million times so their image could be seen, it did not reveal their chemical identity. The new microscope can do this, the report said.

Steele-ing The Sports Scene

What Happened?

That's the question asked by mat fans who didn't witness Tuesday's Warren-Titusville wrestling match. . . and also a few fans who did see it.

The basic answer is that the Rockets won six matches to five for the Dragons and had one more pin.

Does Titusville have a better team?

They were better on Tuesday night.

The Rockets are strong, aggressive and well-conditioned. They make mistakes, but overcome them by pure muscle and hustle. Personally, we believe that the Dragons and Meadville both feature better wrestling, but both have lost to the Rockets and you can't argue with success.

The loss was a severe disappointment to the wrestlers, Warren fans and, most of all, Mike Weber. This will be the fourth straight season that Weber-coached teams have had to settle for second place.

We've been unfortunate enough to witness all four.

Four seasons ago, Oil City came from behind in the upper weights to edge the Dragons for the crown in a match on the Oilers' mats. Three seasons have passed since Meadville brought its first good wrestling team here to stop the Blue and White and last season the same Bulldogs were obviously more powerful and won easily on their own mats.

Titusville, with eight starters returning, is almost certain to repeat next season. The Dragons will have only four varsity grapplers back.

The key to Warren's future lies with the junior varsity and the grade school-junior high programs. It's safe to assume that the Dragons will be putting good teams on the mats for many years.

Consider, though, that many other area schools have also started wrestling programs on the lower levels.

The Dragons have no time to dwell on this season's "failure." There are five dual matches still on the schedule, then the Section IV tournament and for a few, hopefully, Districts, Regionals and maybe the States.

As for Tuesday's loss, we are reminded of a conversation we had recently concerning whether or not wrestling is a team sport. We maintain that it is and the Titusville match proves it. The Rockets won on a team effort.

Therefore, we cannot consider the argument that any one man lost the match for Warren. It took a combination of six individual losses, or more correctly, six individual Titusville wins.

With or without the Section II trophy, Warren can be proud of its wrestling team. It has taken a lot of hard work and dedication by many boys and the coaches to come this far and there's much more success ahead.

We've felt the pulse of area wrestling for the last few years and one thing is certain: Warren is rated a wrestling power.

STEEL SHAVINGS—Ridgway's mat team is 8-0, the most recent victory a 22-20 surprise over Curwensville.

Other area wrestling powerhouses include Greenville, 8-1, Erie East and Fort LeBeauf, who tripped Conneaut Lake on Tuesday, 23-19, for their 30th consecutive dual match win.

With tournament time rolling around, District X should be well represented again in Altoona. East's Fletcher Carr (180) and Art Grinnell (112) of Commodore Perry should be top contenders for a State title.

Ex-Dragon grappler Dave Sorensen wrestled varsity in Navy's match with West Virginia on Saturday. He came out with a scoreless draw. Dave Cocolin, former Meadville star, is starring for the Plebes.

Hickory's Lynn Saternow, who won a Holiday Tournament title here a few years ago, is 2-0-1 with Kent State's varsity.

Area Foresters Pick Officers, Latham Speaker

At a dinner meeting held at the Penn-Laurel last night, the Plateau Chapter, Society of American Foresters elected officers for the coming year. Elected to office were: David L. Stewart, chairman; David E. Anundson, vice-chairman; Jake Baum, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Ache, membership chairman.

Roger Latham, outdoor editor of the Pittsburgh Press, was the featured speaker of the evening and presented a slide program "Hot To Live Off the Land" that was highly appreciated by the members.

Beaty Five Rallies to Win, 37-30

A second half rally gave Beaty Junior High School's basketball team a 37-30 victory over Titusville's freshmen on the local court Tuesday.

The Littlest Dragons were down by nine points, 19-10, at intermission, then scorched the nets for 18 points in the third period to only three for the visitors. Beaty held a 9-3 edge in fourth quarter scoring.

Rick Freeburg sparked Beaty to the triumph with 12 points and Larry Roth totaled eight. John Clark took game-high honors for the Littlest Rockets with 13 points.

Now 4-4 on the season and 4-1 in Section II play, Beaty travels to Oil City on Friday.

Beaty's seventh and eighth grade team slipped past their Titusville counterparts in a preliminary, 35-34.

New Mexico Coach Finds Winning Cure for Ulcer

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Bob King had a stomach ulcer before this basketball season.

King, coach of the fourth-ranked New Mexico's basketball team that carries a 16-0 record, said he was advised of a home-made cure, Scotch whisky and milk.

"I gave it up completely," he said. "It wouldn't work and I couldn't even stand to smell it."

The real cure, however, appears to be his Lobo basketball team, which started the season without a veteran.

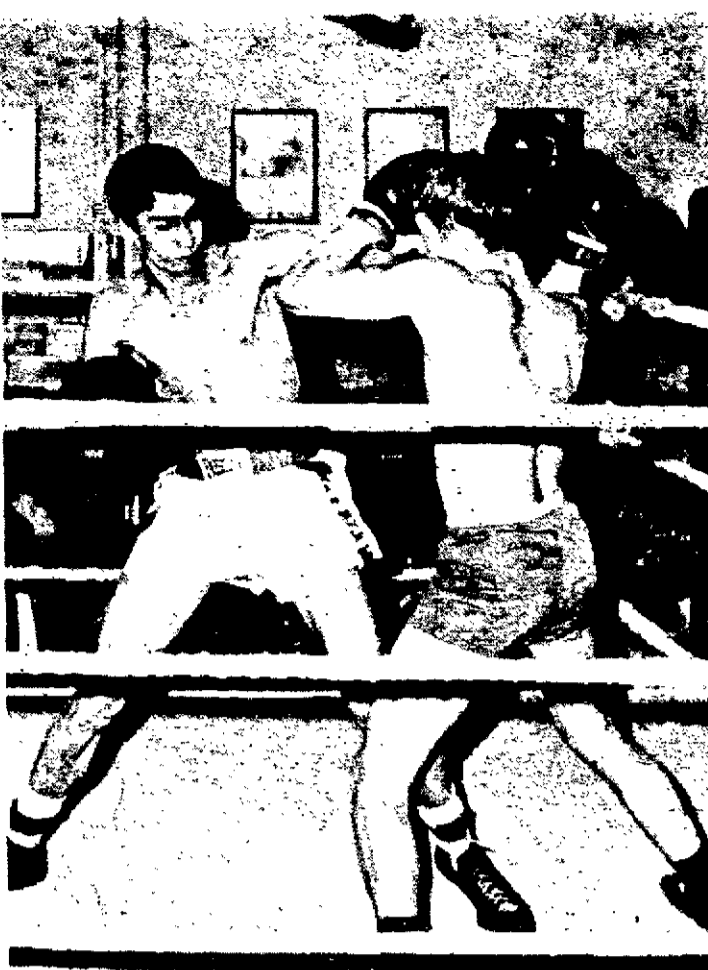

"The ulcer is all gone," said

Penn State Slates Spring Grid Drills

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — Penn State will open spring football practice April 13.

The Eastern champion Nittany Lions will work 20 days, ending on Saturday, May 18, with the annual Blue-White intra-squad game.

The Lions also have set next Sept. 28 as Band Day and the weekend of Oct. 18-20 as Homecoming. Kansas State is the Band Day opponent, Syracuse the Homecoming foe.

GOLDEN GLOVE CHAMP

Johnny Chimenti of Warren (left) gets set to follow a left jab with a right hand during his three-rounder against Ted Phelps in the Golden Gloves tourney at Ashtabula, Ohio, on Saturday. Chimenti won a split decision for the 125-pound title, his first amateur victory, and plans to fight again this winter in the Pittsburgh area.

Johnston Scores 45 In 86-65 EOC Win

TITUSVILLE — Sparked by the outstanding play of Paul Johnston, the Warren-Edinboro Campus basketball team ripped the Titusville-Pitt Campus here last night, 86-65.

Johnston scored 45 points, only five away from his own EOC all-time record, to virtually destroy the Titusville defense. Against the home team's zone, the ex-Dragon star hit from outside and on drives.

Moved inside against the man-to-man, he continued to score almost at will and fed easy shots to teammates when double-teamed.

Jim Anundson turned in his season high for the Warren club, 14 points, and former Youngville High ace Denny Mason tallied 11 in his first game for the local campus.

Dragon Rifle Team Hosting Meadville

The Warren Area High School rifle team hosts Meadville's gunners at 3:30 p.m. today on the WAHS range.

Dragons who have qualified for the match over the full course under match conditions are Joe Kavinski, Randy Swanson, Glenn Johnson, Dick Peck, Jay Jetter, Don Howe, Jeff Jetter, Ron Carrington, Steve Farrell, Debbie Samuelson, Chuck Place and Dick Burgett.

"This is the best road team we've ever had," he said. "We don't depend so much on physical strength, which will get you in trouble on the road."

"We have got a type of a ball club that we'd be happy to have playing .500 ball," he said. "That national ranking is a bonus for our great effort. We still have to have effort to beat anybody we play."

King says New Mexico doesn't have an easy game left. The Lobos play Arizona, Arizona State, Texas, El Paso and New Mexico State at home. The other road games are at Denver, BYU, Wyoming and Utah.

Acquire Tight End

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League announced Monday the acquisition of tight end Andre White from the Denver Broncos for an undisclosed draft choice.

COUNTY SCORING RACE:

Sheffield Star Remains Leader in Total Points

Sheffield's 106-50 victory over Ridgway Tuesday night gave Wayne Swanson a comfortable lead in county scoring as the Wolverine cager hit from the floor for 24 points. R brought Swanson's scoring total to 326 points and a 24.0 average for the 14 Wolverine contests.

Still in the running, but slowly falling behind because of an injury, is Eisenhower's Bob Burlingame. Burlingame ranks second in the county with 297 points, 29 away from Swanson. He remains the top average for the county cagers, however, with a 29.7 reading for his ten like contests.

Denny Walton still holds the third place spot with a 244 point total in the 15 Eagle games. Walton is being pushed by Jeff Scelise of Sheffield who has 231 points and a 22 average advantage over the Eagle.

The only changes in the top ten were between Robbie Hart of Sheffield and Tim Allen of Eisenhower. Allen moved into fifth place as he edged Hart by six points. Allen has scored 220 points while Hart has connected for 214. Allen carries the best average with a 16.9 mark while Hart reads 15.3.

No new names were added to the scoring chart, as Warren and Eisenhower tied for top honors with five cagers each on the list. Youngville placed four players, Sheffield three, and Tidoute two. Averages proved to be getting better as more games are played. Two cagers are scoring over 20 points a game, eight over 15 points a game, and fourteen over ten points a game.

The league races have started to tighten up with a couple of teams fighting it out for first place and the rest of the squads falling in behind. In Section II play, Titusville leads with a 5-1 slate, while Meadville stays hot on their trail with a 4-2 record. Oil City, Franklin, and Cranberry all carry 3-3 readings while Warren, Corry, and Rocky Grove battle it out with 2-4 slates.

The Upper Allegheny Mountain league finds Pleasantville leading with a 4-1 mark. Three squads are right behind the Falcons with 3-2 records: Youngville, West Forest, and East Forest. Eisenhower and Spartansburg stay close behind at 2-3 and Tidoute remains in the cellar with a 1-5 slate. Brockway holds the lead in the Allegheny Mountain league with three victories while Sheffield puts the pressure on with a 2-1 slate. Ridgway stands 1-3 in the loop and Johnsonburg remains winless, 0-3. The Wolverines still lead record-wise with an 68-percent winning average on a 12-2 slate. Youngville ranks second with a 5-9 record and a 47-percent winning average, while Eisenhower's 5-8 record gives them a 38-percent victory average and Warren carries a 4-9 slate for a 31-percent average. Tidoute has won only one of its ten games, giving them a 10-percent winning average.

In the javyee ranks, Sheffield also leads with an undefeated record of 12 victories. Eisenhower ranks second with a 5-0 mark in UAWL action and a 6-4 overall slate. Youngville carries a 5-9 reading for the "Little" Eagles. Warren's javyees are 5-7 and Tidoute Junior Bulldogs carry a 5-4 record.

Snowmobile Racing At Winter Carnival

Scheduled as the feature event at the winter carnival being sponsored by the Warren Field and Stream Club at Chapman Dam State Park on February 11 will be an "against time" snowmobile race over a 10-mile cross-country course.

Trophies will be awarded in four classes to at least the first, second and third place finishers. Women's trophies will also be awarded if sufficient registrations are received.

Racers will be started at two minute intervals and will be checked enroute at five different checkpoints, with the checkpoints reporting by radio to the race officials.

Registrations will start at 10 a.m. on the morning of the 11th and continue until 12:30 p.m. Bob Jackson, race chairman suggests, however, that participants may pre-register their machines by mailing an application to him at 106 Parker Street, Warren, enclosing the $4 registration fee and the starting number between 1 and 200 they prefer. A second choice should be stated, or the closest available number to the requested one will be assigned. The application should also state the make and horsepower of the machine, as well as whether the driver will be male or female.

An official application blank appears on the next page.

The opening date of the winter carnival, February 10, will feature ice fishing, crosscountry skiing, skating, and outdoor contests. Bill Ruspit, an army trainee who spent two winters with Norway's famed ski troops, will demonstrate and talk on the fine points of crosscountry skiing and explain why it is the ideal family winter sports. Fish Commission personnel will also conduct an ice fishing clinic.

Larrouse, the big French hope of the rally, had a narrow 14-second advantage over Britain's Vic Elford, in a Porsche.

A second Porsche, piloted by Paul Toivonen of Finland, was third, 63 seconds behind the leader. Another Finn, Rauno Aaltonen, was fourth in the best-placed British Mini-Cooper. Aaltonen was 1:57.00 behind Larrouse.

Only 83 of the 151 cars which set out on the 26-hour mountain drive returned to Monaco this morning. Of these, four reported late and only 26 came in without penalty.

Starting Thursday night lies another 390 miles of tough mountain stages, including six special runs against the clock. Sixty cars will start this test, which will decide the winner.

Britain's Pat Moss, in a Lancia Fulvia, appeared set for the women's prize with no penalty points so far.

Vikings Get Billy

Martin from Fales

S.T. PAUL MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings, who are losing tight end Martin McKeever, acquired Billy Martin from the Atlanta Falcons.

Wednesday in exchange for reserve lineman Jerry Shay.

General Manager Jim Finks said it was a "straight one-for-one" player deal between the two National Football League teams.

McKeever played out his option in 1967.

Hartke was the loser when Southern California beat Indiana 14-3 on New Year's Day.

One news item: baked crow.

Starg Counting Calories, Days to Spring Practice

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell's weight, the hottest item in the Pirates' spring training camp a year ago, doesn't figure to cause much concern in 1968.

Stargell, forced on a diet last season when Manager Harry Walker said he was too fat, has been counting his calories this winter.

In fact, the big slugger declared Wednesday that he was "in shape at this time of year for the first time since I left high school."

Stargell has worked on a rigid conditioning program throughout the off-season, hoping he won't have to go through what he did in 1967. As the pounds came off at the start of last season, likewise did Stargell's batting average shrink. At the end, despite a second half surge, he batted only .271 with 20 homers and 73 runs batted in.

He made no secret of the fact that he did not enjoy being ridiculed about his weight.

"The first guy that mentions it at spring training this year, I'll stomp on his chest," Stargell said jokingly, adding that he would not reveal his present weight.

The figures last year were far below the pre-season goals which Stargell sets for himself every year. He says he already has set his goals for the 1968 season, but doesn't plan to tell anyone for a couple of months yet.

"I'm in a good frame of mind though, because I'm in such good shape," Stargell told an informal gathering of baseball writers at Forbes Field Wednesday. "And I'm tickled to death that I'm going to be playing every day."

Larry Shepard, the new Pittsburgh manager, made it one of his first points to emphasize that Stargell, a left-handed hitter, would play against all kinds of pitching.

Walker platooned Stargell for 2½ years before he was fired last July.

A return of Stargell to his form of 1966, when he batted .315 with 33 home runs and 102 RBI, could be just the tonic the Pirates need this year.

Although most baseball men concede that Pittsburgh has improved itself by adding pitcher Jim Bunning to its staff, others point out that even had Bunning been here last year and won 20 games, the Pirates would not have won the pennant. They finished 20½ games behind.

And with his absence from thoroughbred racing, speculation arose over who will inherit his job as pilot of the great horse Damascus.

The 36-year-old five-time national champion underwent surgery at Daniel Freeman Hospital in Inglewood Tuesday night and Dr. Robert Kerlan said he would be out of action indefinitely.

"We expect an uneventful recovery and feel that Bill will be back riding in several months, barring complications," Kerlan said.

"A steel rod has been inserted from one end of the thigh bone to the other in order to hold the bone straight and it will remain in quite awhile—perhaps a year or two. However, it will not hamper his riding."

The fracture of the femur, longest and largest in the body, occurred when Shoemaker was thrown near the top of the stretch in the second race Tuesday.

The chain-like pile-up came when a tiring horse, Jack's Aloha, with Manuel Ycaza in the boot, came over on Kodak Kid.

Bel Bush and Shoemaker, immediately behind, tripped over the fallen Kodak Kid and also went down. None of the horses was hurt.

Who will replace Shoemaker as the rider for Damascus, the big horse of the meeting, in the $100,000-added Charles H. Strub Stakes Feb. 3?

Thomas Bancroft of Balti more, whose wife Edith is the registered owner of Damascus, indicated it may be several days before a replacement for Shoemaker is selected.

NHL's All-Star List Headed By Gordie Howe

NEW YORK (AP) — Right winger Gordie Howe of Detroit, an All-Star during 18 of his 21 previous seasons, was among the outstanding veteran players named Wednesday to the National Hockey League All-Star team for the opening half of the 1967-68 campaign.

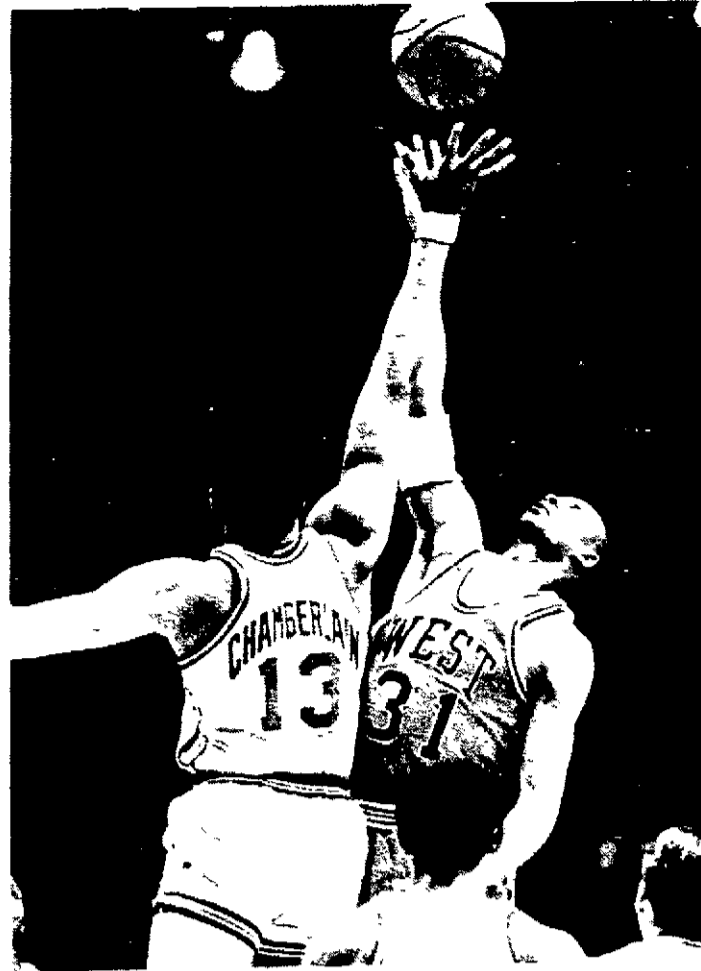

Howe was joined on the circuit's first team by center Stan Mikita and left winger Bobby Hull of Chicago, goalie Johnny Bower and defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto and defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston.

Mikita, Hull and Orr were chosen unanimously in a vote of the league's 12 coaches, drawing the maximum 60 points on a basis of five points for a first place vote, three for second and one for third.

Howe, the NHL's career goal-scoring leader with 670, had 58 points. He has been selected nine times each to the league's first and second All-Star teams.

Each of the first team players will receive $500.

Another vote of the coaches will be held at the end of the season based on performances from midseason on. Players with the most combined points in both votes will be named to the official All-Star teams.

FINGER EXERCISE

East center Wilt Chamberlain (13) of Philadelphia and West center Zelmo Beaty (31) of St. Louis leap finger-tip-to-finger-tip for control of the ball during Tuesday's NBA All-Star game. Sparked by Hal Greer's record 19 points in one quarter, the East won 144-124.

Coach Asking Why 76ers Not Winning

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Alex Hannum says he's undergoing an agonizing self-appraisal of himself as a coach.

Returning home after coaching the East to victory over the West in the National Basketball Association All-Star game in New York Tuesday night, Hannum said it is his job to find out why his Philadelphia 76ers aren't playing as well as they did last year.

The 76ers won the NBA title a year ago with a 68-13 record, best of all time. At this point last season they were nine games ahead of the Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division race.

Now, they are one game ahead and already have lost one more than they did the entire 1966-67 regular season.

Hannum is asking himself why. "We have the same talent," he said at a practice session Wednesday before the team left for Detroit where it plays Thursday night. "They're well paid, well taken care of in every way."

"I've got some complacent ball players, which is obvious because we're not winning as we did last year," he said. May be I'm not tough enough. It must be my fault."

Hannum said he can't accept the excuse that last year was an exceptional season and never would be repeated. "When we play poorly and lose I can't ever accept the defeat as a regular course of events," he said. "We've got a problem. It's the coach's job to motivate these guys and get 'em to play to their potential."

"A coach's worse critic is himself. He has to ask himself if he's losing touch with his players."

He also took the occasion to deny a published report that he was dissatisfied with the 76ers' management. He said his thoughts may have been misinterpreted.

"This is an A-1 management under the present conditions," Hannum said. "Jack Ramsay is doing a fine job as general manager and Irv Kosloff is operating a sound business operation."

"If this club isn't doing so well it's the coach's job to find out why. He has to make it happen on the floor. He can't look to the general manager or the owner. I have the best job in basketball. I've got to make this team hungry again."

Eye Still Troubles Lew, But Will Play

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA basketball star Lew Alcindor continues to have some double vision in his injured left eye but will be with the club for its two weekend games in New York City.

Randy Matson Voted Top Amateur Athlete for '67

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Randy Matson, a gargantuan Texan who holds the world's shot put record, was named Wednesday winner of the Sullivan Award as the outstanding amateur athlete of 1967.

The 22-year-old Texas A&M athlete from Pampa, Tex., beat his own world record last April 4 by 10¼ inches by hurling the 16-pound ball 71 feet, 5½ inches. He also threw the discus 213 feet, 9¼ inches for the unofficial American mark.

In balloting for the Amateur Athletic Union, Matson beat out three women in different fields — Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., recognized as the world's No. 1 woman tennis player; Deborah "Debbie" Meyer, 15-year-old swimming whiz from Sacramento, Calif., and Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., world figure skating queen.

Miss Fleming will be favored to win a gold medal in the Winter Olympics next month at Grenoble, France. Matson and Miss Meyer almost certainly will compete in the Summer Games at Mexico City. Matson was silver medalist, second to Dallas Long, in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo.

Matson is a massive athlete who stands 6 feet, 6½ inches and weighs 260 pounds.

David A. Matlin, AAU president, in making the announcement said Matson compiled 787 points under a system which awards five points for a first place vote, three for second and one for third. Mrs. King polled 579 points, Miss Meyer 528 and Miss Fleming 486.

The voting panel consists of 1,000 amateur sportsmen, sports writers, broadcasters and former winners.

Mrs. King forged to the top of women's tennis by winning the Wimbledon and U.S. titles. She currently is seeking the Australian national crown in Melbourne.

Miss Meyer rewrote the record book in women's freestyle swimming, setting world marks in the 400, 800 and 1,500 meters and 880 yards. The official Soviet Union sport magazine voted her the woman Athlete of the Year.

The 19-year-old Miss Fleming won her second world figure skating crown last year and also added the U.S. and North American championships.

Matson said, "I was real surprised to learn that I had been named. It is a great honor. I feel like it is perhaps the highest award an amateur athlete can get. The Gold Medal in the Olympics is the only thing that could surpass it."

Matson plans to graduate this year from A&M with a degree in business management and hopes to do some work on a master's.

Last summer he married his Pampa High School sweetheart, Margaret Burns, a graduate of Abilene Christian College. They live in College Station and Mrs. Matson is an elementary school teacher in nearby Bryan.

WARREN, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1968

ANNUAL MEETING

Michael Lynch, assistant director of Pennsylvania State University, was the speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Warren County Agricultural Extension Association, held at Jackson Valley Country Club Wednesday. Also on hand at Wednesday's meeting were H. K. Anders, director of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Cooperative Extension Service, John Nordine, seated, president of the executive committee, and Mrs. Pauline Sarvis, of Sugar Grove, secretary. Present for the occasion were the Warren County commissioners, Thomas Donnelly, Blain Mead and David Rice. (Photo by Mansfield)

Judges' Portraits Soon Will Hang in Court Room

As a result of action taken earlier this week by the Warren County Commissioners, the portraits of Warren County's judges will soon be restored to their proper places in the main court room.

Until the redecoration of the room some years ago, portraits of eight judges hung in Court Room No. 1 and two in Court Room No. 2. The portraits had been presented over the years to the bar association by families of the judges and had graced the walls of the room by court order following the ceremony of presentation.

It is expected the portraits will be rehung when the new draperies are installed and it is felt the appearance and dignity of the court room will be considerably enhanced. Comment was made that nearly every court room in Pennsylvania, including those recently built, have all available judges' pictures on the walls. The ten portraits are of Judges Nathaniel Eldred, Rasselas Brown, Samuel P. Johnson, Lansing D. Wetmore, W. D. Brown, Charles H. Noyes, Wilton M. Lindsey, William E. Rice, W. D. Hinkley and D. U. Arrid.

Attending the meeting at which the decision was made were Judge Alexander C. Flick Jr., county commissioners, Dr. David K. Rice, Blain M. Mead and Thomas J. Donnelly, Ernest C. Miller, representing the historical society, R. Pierson Eaton, representing the bar association, Richard G. Smith, grandson of Judge William D. Brown and William E. Rice, son of Judge Rice.

The commissioners adopted a suggestion the portraits, now stored in the attic of the court house, be examined as to condition and any repairs to frames be authorized. The examination will be made by Quinn Smith, well known local artist, who has evidenced great interest in and arranged displays of the historical society.

16 Motorists Have Licenses Suspended

Sixteen Warren County motorists had their operators' licenses suspended for the period beginning Dec. 26.

They are: Alvin C. Bean, RD 1, Spring Creek, speeding, four months; Willard R. Beck 4th, RD 2, Sheffield, speeding, two months; Darrell E. Blakeslee, 571 College st., Youngsville, reckless driving, 60 days; Charles Bosley, RD 1, Columbus, permitting violation, two months.

Charles E. Eckenrod, RD 3, Sugar Grove, no operator's license, one month; Joseph R. Edwards, 298 Yankee Bush rd., speeding, two months; Frederick Ellis, RD 2, Pittsfield, speeding, one month; Marlon L. Grubbs, 45 Jefferson st., Tidoute, failure to identify at scene of accident, two months.

Terry L. Littlefield, School st., Tiona, no operator's license, three months; Howard S. Murray, Star Route 62, Irvine, no operator's license, one month; Albert N. Schneider Jr., RD 1, Grand Valley, speeding, one month; Edward F. Skinner, RD 1, Bear Lake, no operator's license, one month.

Chester E. Smith, 1004 Jackson Run rd., stop sign violation, one month; Thomas E. Stitts, 219 Canton st., right of way violation, two months; Stanley J. Swartz, 117 Mohawk ave., following too close, one month and Donald M. Thayer, 9 Elm st., Warren, speeding, 60 days.

Registrations Are Still Open

Registrations for the spring term of the Warren County School District adult education program are still being accepted at Warren Area High School.

Additional registrations are still needed in the following courses: Business English, Business Law, Beginning Bookkeeping, Advanced Bookkeeping, Beginning Shorthand, Advanced Shorthand, Office Machines, Advanced Typing, Beginning Typing, Welding, and Machine Shop.

Interested persons may register by reporting to Warren Area High School between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. each weekday or by calling the high school office, 723-3370.

HELP HUMANE SOCIETY

The Beaty Citizenship League recently sponsored a dance, the second such affair sponsored by the league, with proceeds to go to the Warren County Humane Society to help in its program of caring for the many stray animals that seek food, shelter and eventually a home of their own. This year's dance netted the league $100, which citizenship league representatives turned over to the Humane Society, Wednesday. On hand for the presentation were left to right, Comde Prodromou, Chris Cassatt and Gary Scallise, general chairman, of the fund raising dance, Dennis Marshall, league president, made the presentation to John Rix, agent for the Humane Society. James Eldridge, social advisor of the school organization, witnessed the presentation. (Photo by Mansfield)

Warren Library Stocks Books with Oversize Type

Warren Public Library and its county division have recently been purchasing books printed in extra-large type, according to Mrs. Georgia S. Coyle, library director. Over one hundred titles are now available at the library and from the bookmobile.

"There has been a virtual revolution in the production of this material. Two years ago there was a very limited amount of material available from volunteer organizations. Today it is estimated that several hundred books have been printed in oversized type and more are on the way," Mrs. Coyle said. Large-type books are printed in a type size approximately one-fourth of an inch higher. This is more than twice as large as the type normally used in a newspaper story such as this.

"Although we thought these books would be primarily used by visually handicapped persons, reports indicate that many other people find them useful," Mrs. Coyle said. "Apparently many foreign-born library users are finding it easier to read these books, as are some senior citizens."

Books printed in large type cover the complete range of interests from history and science to fiction and philosophy. One of the first large-type books printed in this country was "Profiles in Courage," by the late President John F. Kennedy, which is available from the library's collection.

Republicans Maintain 2-to-1 Lead

Republicans in Warren County continue to maintain their strong two to one lead over Democrats registered to vote.

Since the new voter registration period opened Dec. 7, the GOP has added 34 to the rolls while Democrats have secured 17.

In changes of party affiliation, four Democrats registered Republican, six Republicans switched to Democrats, two non-partisans to Republican and one to Democrat while two Republicans reverted to non-partisan.

As of Monday this week, when totals were added, there were 12,186 Republicans, 6,148 Democrats, 271 non-partisans, 59 prohibitionists and 17 in other parties. The grand total stands at 18,881.

The registrar noted that during the mid-semester vacation, five persons, 21 years of age, registered for the first time.

Offer Course On Religion, Mental Health

Edinboro State College United Campus Ministry, in cooperation with Warren State Hospital and the college psychology department, will be offering an elective, non-credit course second semester called "The Christian and Mental Health."

Students at Edinboro or the Warren Campus who have had some psychology courses are eligible to take the course. Five students will be selected upon application.

The following is a description of the course:

(1) A service program at Warren State Hospital will be held seven Thursday mornings during second semester, 1968.

(2) The program will encompass 21 hours of orientation and service at the hospital. These hospital disciplines will be included: social service, medical, nursing, recreation, chaplaincy, occupational therapy and industrial therapy. Volunteer services will coordinate the program.

(3) United Campus Ministry personnel will help interpret the service and ministry concept in the program, while providing the transportation. A car will leave Edinboro at approximately 7:15 a.m. and arrive at the hospital at 9 a.m. Lunch will be eaten at the hospital.

Warren State Hospital provides insurance for all volunteers; this program would be covered by this group policy. If it is necessary, the United Campus Ministry will purchase additional coverage.

Aliens Must File By January 31

Edward T. Sweeney, Officer in Charge of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Pittsburgh, reminded area aliens this week that January 31 is the deadline for filing address report forms under provisions of the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act.

The immigration official urged aliens who have not yet filed their address reports to do so no later than Jan. 31 to avoid possible penalties.

Falconer Woman Charged With 2 Counts of Forgery

A Falconer, N. Y. woman was released on $500 cash or $1,000 property bond yesterday after being charged with two counts of forgery.

Jamestown Men Charged With Burglary

Two Jamestown, N.Y. men are in Warren County jail following their arrest on a burglary charge.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Hegerty, stated the apprehension resulted from an investigation of burglary sometime during the night of Dec. 5, 1967 of Sande's Red and White Store in North Warren. A quantity of food and money, value unknown, was taken police said.

Accused are William H. Buchanan, 20, 80 Persian ave., Jamestown and Peter E. Swartz, 19, 932 E. Second st., Jamestown. Both waived a hearing before Peace Justice Fred Berry and were remanded to jail in lieu of $1,000 cash or $2,000 property bond, Hegerty said.

According to the deputy sheriff, who was assisted in the investigation by Conewango township police Chief Donald Holmes, and assistant Chief James Tridico, Buchanan was arrested Sunday after he appeared at the sheriff's office and gave himself up. Hegerty stated criminal warrants for the men had been issued after charges were filed before Berry.

Swartz, police said, was arrested at his residence by Jamestown city police on a fugitive warrant and held in city jail until Tuesday, when he was taken to Mayville, N.Y. where he signed extradition before Judge Edwin O'Connor.

Swartz, the deputy reported, was returned to Warren by Hegerty and Tridico.

State Police Record Two Accidents

State police of the Warren substation recorded two early morning accidents Wednesday, both on Route 6.

Trooper Max J. Bizzak was called to the scene of a 7:40 a.m. mishap at Greene Road and Route 6, where, he stated, a car driven by Leroy J. Heliker, 17, of 2620 Pennsylvania ave., W. ext., backed out of a private drive across Route 6 and struck a car operated by Geraldine Fern Hoyt, 49, of 404 River rd., stopped for a stop light.

Total damage was listed at $130.

At 7:50 a.m. Wednesday, Trooper William C. Dudnack investigated the second mishap on Route 6, six miles west of Warren.

Police said both cars involved were traveling west when that driven by Leland W. Sperry, 50, of 14 E. Third st., Lakewood, N.Y., slowed to turn into a driveway. According to police, a car operated by Jeanne Maria Natale, 19, of 701 N. Main st., Youngsville, struck the left rear of the Sperry vehicle.

Total damage was estimated

IN APPRECIATION

Miss Mina Rieder, right, retiring executive secretary of the Warren County Unit of the American Cancer Society, was presented with a wrist watch Wednesday as a token of appreciation for 15 years of service to the county unit.

presentation, praised Miss Rieder for her devotion to her job and for her kind and sympathetic understanding of families' problems in cancer cases. Mrs. Emory Mahanleft, a unit volunteer, winds the watch presented to Miss Rieder. (Photo by Mansfield)

PEOPLE USED TO HAVE SERVANTS in their homes and as I was whizzing around with the housework the other day I was thinking this over . . . out loud . . . I don't have a natural affinity for housework, so I give myself pep talks as I go along. This particular pep talk led me back to my grandmother's time and on to her grandmother's time, and so on . . . And, my happy conclusion was that actually we, today, do have more servants than they ever had; only thing lacking is the companionship and conversation the hired help provided! The servants? . . . Your electric appliances, of course!

THE CATHEDRAL OF TOMORROW quartet is to present a program of sacred music in Russell this Saturday. This is a widely known television group from Akron, Ohio, and the pastor of the Russell Methodist Church, the Rev. Arthur F. Hummel, invites the public to share in the enjoyment of their singing. The service will start at 7:30 that evening.

"RICH NATIONS, POOR NATIONS" is the program to be presented at the meeting tonight of the Woman's Society of Christian Service in Dunham Parlors of First Methodist Church. Mrs. Melvin Keiler and a panel of women from the church will explore the subject. Hostesses for the meeting will be members of the Jason Lee Circle. There will be no executive meeting today. Tonight's meeting is at 8.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What gives you the right to insult people and call it "advice"? Through the years you have printed several cruel and hurtful letters about fat people but the last one really got to me. The notion that a woman would eat herself out of shape in order to discourage her husband's love making was plain crazy. I nearly gagged when you agreed with the nosey sister-in-law that her hunch might be right.

It's time we fat people stood up for ourselves. I say to you, Ann Landers, and to others who can't resist the vicious barbs, leave us alone. Our size is a highly personal matter. If we'd rather eat and enjoy life than walk around half starved, mean, and skinny, whose business is it?

I've seen pictures of you, but only the head. I wonder what the rest of you looks like. It wouldn't surprise me if you are a fat lady who is trying to fool people by printing anti-fat letters. I know you'll never publish this one but I feel better for having written it. — WELL UPHOLSTERED AND NOT ASHAMED

DEAR WELL UPHOLSTERED: Now that you feel better, go make a batch of fudge and reward yourself for telling me off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has three brothers, a sister, an ex-wife and six children by that marriage. When he and his wife were divorced he gave her everything she asked for and has been Johnny-on-the-spot with the support checks for several years.

Not one member of his family has shown the slightest interest in this man even though he is diabetic and in poor health. He has never received so much as a card on his birthday, Father's Day or Christmas. When he used to call his children on the telephone they hung up in his ear. He doesn't call them any more.

When my husband passes away I will have to make the burial arrangements. Should I notify his relatives? He has asked that I not do so. What is my duty? — A HOUSE DIVIDED

DEAR H.D.: Your husband's wishes should take precedence over custom, since it is obvious that he is not considered a member of the family. When he passes away, notify the newspaper. His relatives will learn of his death and will come to the funeral if they wish to.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter is 18 and in her first year of college. Judith is an attractive girl, a reasonably bright student, has a nice figure and always dated fine young men when she was in high school.

When Judith came home for the holidays she announced that she is in love with a 28-year-old college student who is divorced and has four children. He told her some dreadful things about his ex-wife which makes me wonder why he allowed her to keep the children. Also, how can he pay support money and go to college when he has only a part-time job? So many things do not add up that I am frightened out of my wits that he is a four-flusher.

I always thought our daughter was a level-headed, feet-on-the-ground type but I was mistaken. How should I handle this situation? — S.L.C.

DEAR S.L.C.: You have undoubtedly let Judith know how you feel about the young man. Now cool it and keep quiet. If all the mothers who propelled their daughters into poor marriages by nagging were laid end to end they'd reach from here to maternity.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

speaker; Mrs. Donald Spencer, president; Mrs. R. Lee Mull; Mrs. Florence Hoffman, treasurer.

YWCA Annual Meeting

Although the illnesses prevalent in the community reduced the attendance somewhat, those members and friends who attended the 54th annual meeting of the YWCA were unanimous in feeling that the occasion was a challenging, thought-provoking one.

Mrs. Donald H. Spencer, president of the board of directors, after dinner presided at the brief business session, graciously welcoming all those present, and introducing special guests, and members of the "Y" staff. Following the routine reports from the secretary and the treasurer, Mrs. Norman A. Johnson, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of candidates for election to the board of directors:

For a first term ending in 1971: Mrs. Arnold E. Whren, Mrs. Thomas F. Brown, Mrs. Eugene O'Neill, and Mrs. Charles W. Cable; for a second term ending in 1971: Mrs. Merle B. Mitcham, Mrs. Alan H. Buerkle, whose picture appears in the accompanying photograph, had been elected to the board late in 1967 to fill a vacancy. Candidates nominated and elected to the nominating committee for 1968 include: Mrs. James C. Miller, Miss Joyce Andereg, Mrs. Norman A. Johnson, Mrs. Ralph E. Van Ord and Mrs. Kenneth Midgah.

former executive director, past president of the association, and a member who is retiring from the board after 6 years of service, presided during the program portion of the meeting. Following a Y-Teen choral reading with dance interpretation on the theme: "A Christian Movement Open to the World", Mrs. Whitehill introduced the Rev. R. Lee Mull, assistant pastor of First Lutheran Church, Warren, who spoke eloquently on the theme: "Vision -- or Perish".

By developing the ideas contained in the basic standards for the 1967-1970 Triennium as adopted by the 24th National Convention in Boston, Mass., in April of 1967, and the formulation of the new and more inclusive Purpose for the YWCA, Pastor Mull emphasized most effectively what could and should be the areas of major concern in this community, and the necessity for involvement by all the members of the YWCA. In the dedication service of commitment, in which all board members present participated, Pastor Mull's message evoked a renewed sense of urgency and responsibility to meet the needs of the changing times and the tasks that lie ahead.

Pamela Munson Becomes Bride of Lewis F. Gareri

Pamela H. Munson became the bride of Lewis F. Gareri Saturday, January 20, at 4:30 p.m. double ring nuptial service in the Central Presbyterian Church, Massillon, Ohio. The Rev. Max House officiated. Pink and white carnations and tapered candles ornamented the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Munson of 431 Stuart street, N.W., Massillon, Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gareri of 8517 N. Market street, Canton, Ohio.

Approaching the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was attired in a full length gown of peau de sole and re-embroidered Alencon lace. The lace trimmed in pearls detailed the bodice neckline and the long Dior sleeves. Her headpiece was a Dior bow of matching peau which held a tiered elbow length veil of imported illusion.

The attendants to the bride were Marilyn Munson, sister of the bride, of Massillon, and Emily Cooke of Berwick, Pa. They wore floor length gowns of ruby brocade and pink crepe. Virginia Munson of New York City, sister of the bride, wore an identical gown in two shades of turquoise. Their headpieces were dyed to match with veils of illusion trimmed in tiny bows. The flower girl, Leslie Garison of Warren, cousin of the bride, wore a pink chiffon gown to match the bridesmaids and carried a basket of rose petals.

The best man for the ceremony was Robert Glendening, cousin of the groom from Freeport, Ohio. Ushers were Robert Vicander, cousin of the bride, from Irvine, Pa., and John Sanor from North Canton, Ohio. The ring bearer was Master Gregg Garrison, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a pale green dress and matching coat of silk shantung. The mother of the groom wore a two-piece dress of off-white silk. Two grandmothers, Mrs. Hazel Hale of Akeley, and Mrs. Iona Burrier, Seio, Ohio, were in attendance.

A reception was held in the church following the ceremony. Rehearsal dinner was given at the home of the groom's parents.

The new Mrs. Gareri attended Kent State University Academic Center and Canton Business College. She is a graduate of Jackson High School. Mr. Gareri attended Kent State University Academic Center and graduated from Lake High School. He is now stationed at Travis Air Force Base, California.

Out of town guests came from Warren, Jamestown, New York City, Washington, D. C., Louisville, Ky.; Evansville, Ind.; Bradford, Chicago, Waynesboro, Pa.

Hints on How To' for Amateur Paperhangers

How many times have you wanted to install wallcovering but had second thoughts? Gets too involved, you said to yourself; all that bother and mess of mixing paste.

You, then, are among the many who have not heard about pre-pasted wallcoverings, the new aid for the do-it-yourself decorator.

To hang pre-pasted wallcoverings it is necessary to have only one special tool—a "waterbox"—which is obtained from the dealer. The strip of covering is immersed in clean, warm water for about 30 seconds so as to activate the adhesive which has been applied at the factory.

Often if you are doing a small area such as kitchen or bathroom, the bathtub or sink can be used in place of a waterbox. The important point is to immerse the rolled strip long enough to activate the adhesive properly.

The pre-pasteds open up decorating opportunities which you may never have considered before. Linen closets, closets (with matching hatboxes, shoeboxes, etc.); wastebaskets, chests, lamp shades, door panels, picture mats, and screens, for instance. The wallcovering is so easy to handle that these smaller jobs do not require a great deal of time.

Wallpapering can also be handled by the woman of the house with relative ease. And, most husbands will appreciate not having weekends consumed with decorating chores.

The pattern choice among pre-pasteds is varied and fresh—bold florals; psychedelic designs in fluorescent colors; striking black and white vignettes; embossed textures; graceful florets; whimsical Americana; houndstooth checks; Scottish plaids; paisleys; polka dots; stripes and medallions.

The interest and warmth that wallcoverings will give your house need not be postponed. . . pre-pasteds are here in the latest colors and designs!

Italian Version of Recipe

The color and excitement of Italy are combined with the nutritional value and flavor of all-American enriched white hominy grits in this recipe for Grits Napoli. Hot, hearty and satisfying for winter eating, this new taste treat was created by the Home Economics Department of the Quaker Oats Company.

For your base you'll need:
1 cup Quaker or Aunt Jemima Enriched White Hominy Grits
5 cups boiling water +
1 teaspoon salt

Slowly stir the grits into boiling salted water. Cover and cook slowly 25 to 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into a 9-inch square baking pan which has been rinsed with cold water. Let stand at room temperature about 25 minutes. Cover; refrigerate several hours or overnight. Cut chilled grits into 6 pieces; arrange in 12x8-inch baking dish. Top with sauce (see below). Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese.

The sauce consists of:
1 1/2-cup can of spaghetti sauce

with meat
1 4-oz. can of sliced button mushrooms, drained
3/4 teaspoon oregano
Combine the sauce, mushrooms and oregano in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Simmer about 10 minutes.
Makes 6 servings.

+NOTE: To use quick grits, decrease water to 4 cups; cook uncovered 2 1/2 to 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

He Hit When He Wasn't Aiming

LUSK, Wyo. (AP) — Paul Percival, a Lusk area rancher, bagged two deer in a single day — and still didn't fire a shot.

Percival got his first deer with his pickup truck — at a cost of $700 damages to the truck. He managed to get to town, phoned his wife at the ranch and asked her to pick him up in their car.

En route home, Percival's car struck and killed another deer. The car wasn't damaged.

Opening lead: Four of ♣. Both North and South were chargeable for the deficit incurred by the partnership—the former for permitting the auction to get beyond the three no trump level, and the latter for presenting the opposition with an opportunity to defeat the final contract of five diamonds.

North had 15 points in high cards and balanced distribution. If he had held a small heart along with the queen-jack, the proper response to one diamond would have been two no trump. Once South showed hearts on his rebid, North was completely remiss in not bidding three no trump. The taking of 10 tricks would have been routine.

West led the four of clubs and the queen was played from dummy. East won the trick with the king and shifted to a small spade. South finessed for a second time and, when West produced the king of spades, the contract was doomed, for declarer must still concede a trick to the ace of trumps.

South was the victim of his own finesse-itis. As soon as the dummy is spread, it becomes obvious that the solid heart holding will permit declarer to obtain two spade discards from dummy which eliminates the need for taking a finesse in spades.

The most urgent consideration is to draw trumps, so that the hearts can be safely cashed out. South should, therefore, seize the initiative at once by putting up the ace of clubs at trick one. A diamond is led and, when East gets in with the ace, he will presumably shift to a spade. Declarer puts up the ace—since he now has the situation under full control—draws the remaining trump and cashes out his four hearts, discarding two spades from dummy. He ruffs a spade and later concedes a club trick for his second and final loser on the deal.

Erle Stanley Gardner Stands Behind Police

HONOLULU (AP)—Erle Stanley Gardner, Perry Mason's creator, says he feels policemen should get better pay. "And I don't mean just in folding money but in appreciation and cooperation," Gardner, 78, said in an interview on his arrival here aboard the liner Mariposa.

"We need better public support of the police and obedience to the law," he said. "There is too little of this right now."

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Even if you have a heavy schedule, do not press too hard nor give insufficient time to the really important items. Be receptive to good advice, avoid anxiety.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Venus auspicious. Put your artistry and keen powers of observation to work, but DON'T MAKE impulsive decisions. A good day for accomplishment.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Emphasize your innate sense of humor and good will now. Avoid any tendency toward indifference, beating around the bush. Make this day COUNT.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Originality and imagination, carefully employed, can brighten this day and boost your status. But keep everything in line and don't go to extremes.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Mixed influences. Organize talents and know-how to promote your interests more efficiently. Translate good ideas into working processes. Meet a good thing half way.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You may face some complications—... and not in the areas where you might expect. How you handle situations and the pace you set will determine your progress.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Your Venus still highly auspicious. Especially favored: Artistic pursuits, family interests, romance. Be painstaking in all your efforts.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Many interests can advance under this day's influences, but some persons may try to provoke or annoy you. Do not let them. Stress your self-confidence.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Better-than-average influences. Jupiter promises favors, extra dividends. If you start your day early, and with confidence, you can go far.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Strongly auspicious influences ought to lend fresh vigor and zest to your activities now. Stress your inventiveness.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Do not become wildly involved in so many activities that you neglect the ones pertinent NOW. Conditions excellent for useful discussions, commitments. Avoid fears and doubts. PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Curb emotions and do not let them become a factor in vital decisions. Take steps to develop a latent talent.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly personable, an intelligent thinker, but are extremely vacillating at times. Not that you do not know what you want or should do, but you see so many sides of a matter at once, you may act before you mean to, then desire change. New interests always beckon. Your vital nature prevents dullness, placidity, but can keep you in a state of anxiety if you do not make up your mind to follow one route and STAY with it to the final, wonderful accomplishment you CAN achieve.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

MARIJUANA MISUSE

Many people need chemicals to work, sleep, relax, and survive the tempo of modern living. These drugs include tobacco, alcohol, sedatives, stimulants, and less desirable products such as narcotics and LSD.

A mild example of addiction is the housewife who "can't get going without coffee." What about diabetics who need insulin to survive or the arthritic who takes chemicals to relieve pain? We also must add drugs that prolong the life of persons with heart disease or high blood pressure.

Marijuana is a controversial drug because it has no known medical value. Therefore, scientists have little reason to study it. Its bad reputation may be due to the fact that the law classifies it with opium and heroin.

Any preparation or extract from hemp (the Cannabis plant) is called marijuana. The active ingredients are found in the resinous exudate of unfertilized flowers which grow wild in temperate zones. Some persons smoke it, but the drug can be ingested in candy. When inhaled, the individual enters a dreamy state in which ideas and good health. It lowers the blood count temporarily, images flow freely and pleasantly. Euphoria and exaltation usually occur along with a lowering of self-restraint. The sense of time and body may be distorted.

Some users laugh uncontrollably. It is little wonder that those who advocate lifting restrictions consider marijuana to be on a par with alcohol and cigarettes.

The objections begin when large dosages are used and the individual becomes a chronic smoker. Indolence, yes, and personal neglect often follow abuse. In some instances when the venous circulation is poor and ulcers stances, judgment and memory are impaired. Serious are present. A rash in rheumatism is unusual.

reactions such as panic, confusion, impulsive behavior, depression, delusions, and hallucinations occur with excessive doses and, more so when marijuana is combined with alcohol or pep pills. It is well-known that drug abusers usually take the first step with marijuana.

TOMORROW: Emotional Dwarfism.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

BREECH BIRTH

Mrs. T. writes: Three physicians have told me that I'm going to have a breech birth. What is the cause of this abnormality?

REPLY

No one knows why the infant reverses its posture. In some instances, the position of the placenta plays a role. In others, the uterus is abnormally shaped or the bag of waters contains so much fluid the child is free to move in any direction.

DONATES BLOOD YEARLY

G.Z. writes: Is it harmful for a man to give blood once or twice a year? I was told it can have an effect on the amount of blood cells produced and also change the quality of the blood.

REPLY

Giving blood is not dangerous, provided you are in the individual enters a dreamy state in which ideas and good health. It lowers the blood count temporarily, images flow freely and pleasantly. Euphoria and exaltation usually occur along with a lowering of self-restraint. The sense of time and body may be distorted.

Some users laugh uncontrollably. It is little wonder that those who advocate lifting restrictions consider marijuana to be on a par with alcohol and cigarettes.

The objections begin when large dosages are used and the individual becomes a chronic smoker. Indolence, yes, and personal neglect often follow abuse. In some instances when the venous circulation is poor and ulcers stances, judgment and memory are impaired. Serious are present. A rash in rheumatism is unusual.

Varicose eczema. A.M.K. writes: Have you ever heard of a bad rash on both legs resulting from a type of rheumatism or varicose veins?

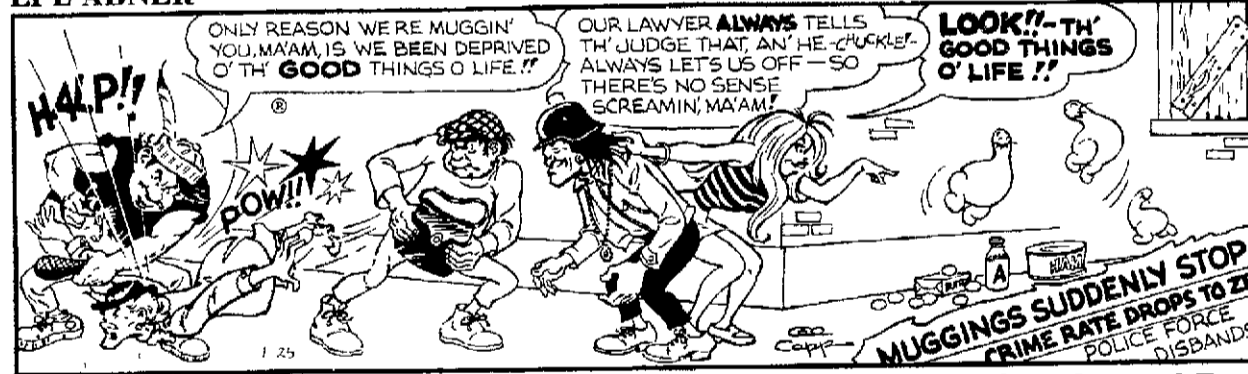

REPLY

Varicose eczema is a common condition especially when the venous circulation is poor and ulcers stances, judgment and memory are impaired. Serious are present. A rash in rheumatism is unusual.

Young Navy Doctor Removes Live Shell from Pa. GI

SAIGON (AP) — The young Navy doctor's most pressing problem was not the enemy mortar and rocket shells that were slamming into the combat base, at Khe Sanh. Rather it was a metal object protruding from the abdomen of a wounded Marine.

The object was part of the warhead of an 82mm Communist mortar shell, that might explode at any time. A piece of metal nearly 3.5 inches across and 4 inches deep, it had buried itself in the abdomen of Pfc. Robert Mussari, 19, of Scranton, Pa., during a Communist attack Sunday morning.

"I could hardly believe my eyes when they brought him in," said the doctor, Lt. Edward Feldman, 26, of Forest Hills, N.Y.

"I pulled back part of the big field dressing and saw a metal pipe just sticking out of his abdomen. There had been some

26.3 Million Cattle

LUCKNOW, India (AP) — The cattle population in Uttar Pradesh State, India's most populous, is estimated at 26.3 million, or 35 per cent as much as the human population.

An agricultural expert estimated 60 per cent of the cows and bullocks are unproductive.

bleeding, but the shell must have been scorching hot when it hit him. It had partly cauterized the wound and bits of his skin, tissue and bandage were stuck to it like glue.

"When I finally grasped what the problem was, I remembered the famous operation nearly two years ago in Vietnam in which a live shell had been removed from a soldier in a field operation.

"When I read about it then in the States, I never dreamed I would have to do the same thing."

When Mussari was hit, other Marines carried him to the battalion aid station. But the medical tents were on fire and the electric power had been cut by the shelling.

Feldman and his assistant, Chief Hospitalman Richard Asquith, 35, of Atlantic Beach, Fla., and their crew of Navy corpsmen quickly shifted the emergency operating center to a large sand-bagged bunker.

Huddled in the far corner of the dark bunker, Feldman quickly gave Mussari morphine to kill the pain. He sent someone to get a Marine engineer who might know how to handle the shell with the least chance of setting it off.

Staff Sgt. Ronald Sniegowski, 30, of San Clemente, Calif.,

reached the bunker within minutes. But Sniegowski, with only a small part of the metal showing, was unable to determine positively what it was.

He suspected it was part of a delayed action shell that normally blows up 2 1/2 hours after impact. An hour and three quarters already had gone by.

Feldman ordered Asquith to clear all the other wounded and all of the corpsmen not needed out of the bunker.

"Then I had them build a little wall around Mussari, sandbags five layers high," Feldman explained. "I remembered from the earlier story how the Army doctor had made a window in a wall of sandbags to operate through and I wanted to do that, too, by making a hole in the wall of the bunker. But there just wasn't time and shells were still landing outside."

Asquith, a Navy veteran of 16 years serving his third tour in Vietnam, posted himself at the bunker entrance to keep everybody out.

Corpsman Roger Tillotson, 23, of Potomac, Md., took four flashlights, clamped them together and held the light on Mussari.

Feldman said Mussari was conscious all through removal of the object.

Later, Mussari was evacuated by air.

Wants Data on Proposed Nuclear Explosion in State

HARRISBURG (AP) — A Pittsburgh Lawmaker asked Wednesday that the legislature be given more information on a proposed nuclear explosion in Sprout State Forest in Clinton and Centre counties.

"This is a very serious thing," Rep. Gerald Kaufman, D-Allegheny, said during a meeting of the House Industrial Development Committee.

Kaufman, a freshman member of the General Assembly, questioned Clifford L. Jones, state secretary of commerce, about the project.

Jones said the project, which has not received final approval was an experiment to determine if an underground chamber could be created for the storage of natural gas.

"I understand there is a dangerous shortage of gas reservoirs," Jones told the committee. "If this project is successful, it could open the way for considerably more storage areas."

William C. Underwood of the Commerce Department's Bureau of Business Services said the project was sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission, the U. S. Bureau of Mines and Columbia Gas System.

Jones noted that Gov. Shafer had given permission for a feasibility study, pending a final decision on whether the explosion itself would be authorized.

"The feasibility study includes a safety and site evaluation which will take eight months," the commerce secretary said.

Following the initial feasibility phase, the Department of Forests and Water would have to negotiate a lease for the tract on which the explosion would take place and, of course, the governor would have to give the final go-ahead, Jones said.

In response to one of Kaufman's questions, Jones said legislative approval was not required, but he added: "You have a direct line to the governor, and I'm sure your reaction would be important."

Rpe. W. Max Bossert, chairman of the committee, suggested that the matter be taken up at a future meeting when AEC and state health officials could be present. Bossert, R-Clinton, represents the district where the underground explosion would take place.

Ike on Air For Birth Control

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will go on the air next month to campaign for government action on birth control, a stance he opposed while in the White House.

Planned Parenthood World Population announced Wednesday that Eisenhower, who shares with former President Harry S. Truman the honorary chairmanship of the organization's honorary sponsors council, has recorded and filmed a one-minute message for radio and television. It will be aired during February in connection with a Planned Parenthood fund raising drive.

Eisenhower's message calls the population explosion "the world's most critical problem" and calls for government and private action to give all people "the clear human right of choosing the number of children they will have."

Eisenhower admitted that as President "I thought and said that birth control was not the business of our federal government."

"The facts changed my mind," he added.

The former president said the population explosion was "smothering economic growth" in some areas and could threaten peace.

"Governments must act," he said, "and private citizens must cooperate urgently through voluntary means. Failure would limit the expectations of future generations to abject poverty and suffering and bring down upon us history's condemnation."

Private Colleges Need Support

HONOLULU (AP) — Private colleges must have more support to keep up with demands, a Roman Catholic educator says.

The Very Rev. William F. Fere, president of Honolulu's Chaminade College, says private colleges in Hawaii have not grown as rapidly as the University of Hawaii over the past 10 years.

"As a result, Hawaii does not follow the national averages in the relationship between public and private education," he said. He said Hawaiian private colleges have only 10 per cent of the total enrollment while mainland private institutions have 40 per cent.

He said part of the cost of operating private colleges "must always be absorbed by the community" because students cannot be expected to shoulder the burden.

Employees End Up Millionaires Under Profit-Sharing Plan

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A score of the people who work for Marion Laboratories, Inc., a pharmaceutical firm launched only 18 years ago, are millionaires.

An assistant office manager who has been with Marion for only eight years is worth $600,000.

The plant maintenance man recently bought a farm and still has over $300,000 to play around with.

It's all the result of a company profit-sharing plan. And for this the employees can thank Marion's president, a dynamic, restless individual named Ewing Marion Kauffman.

"There's no mystery," says Kauffman, a rangy, balding man of 51 with penetrating blue eyes.

"I believe every employee who produces for a company should share in the ownership of that company and should share in profits the company makes."

Kauffman, recently in the news when he shelled out some $6 million for Kansas City's new American League baseball franchise, recalled how it all began 18 years ago.

He was an ace salesman here for another drug firm—so good, in fact, that he was earning more than the company president. That wouldn't do, so his employer began cutting Kauffman's territory.

Moving with customary directness, Kauffman quit and started packaging his own drugs in the basement of his home.

Operating with only a few employees, Kauffman kept plugging away until 1952 when he obtained $1,000 backing from each of seven acquaintances. Today, he says, each of those $1,000 investments is worth close to $2 million.

Here's what Marion employees receive:

—The company places 25 per cent of its net earnings before taxes into an employee profit-sharing fund now totaling some $14 million. The fund is invested by an unbreakable trust.

—Each year the firm deposits in the profit-sharing fund money equal to up to 15 per cent of an employee's total compensation—the maximum allowed by the Internal Revenue Service. The employee puts in nothing. If he earns under $6,000 a year the employee must work at least 11 years to earn his entire trust, at least 22 years if he earns over $6,000 annually.

—Employees are given options on Marion stock equal to one share for each $200 annual compensation. The employee has 27 months to buy stock at the market price when the option was offered. This can mean an immediate profit, since Marion stock has gone up from $21 a share to the equivalent of about $280 a share, counting splits, since the firm went public 2½ years ago. Many Marion workers also buy their firm's stock on the open market.

—The company also offers bonuses, life and medical insurance, lifetime disability pay, tuition for self-improvement education and other fringe benefits.

Kauffman is convinced the generous benefit program for his 275 workers is one of the main reasons Marion Laboratories has succeeded where thousands of other new drug firms have failed.

Net earnings last fiscal year came to $1.9 million for an increase of 36 per cent over the previous year. Net sales totaled $10.4 million for a jump of 33 per cent.

News From Ludlow Area

Twelve members of the Lutheran Sunday School Bible Class met for a afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Olson Wednesday.

Mr. Olson served his birthday and he has been the teacher for the class for a number of years but is now confined to his home with illness. The members brought in the lunch which they all enjoyed very much. Mr. Olson spoke of his appreciation as he was much pleased. Present were the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Olson, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Johnson, Tillie Olson, Susie Krantz, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Mrs. Agnes Forsgren, Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, Larry Gilfert and Mr. and Mrs. Olson.

"Claims of Christ" was the topic for the Rev. Carl F. Ellison's sermon Sunday morning. The choir sang "Great is Thy Faithfulness". Officers were installed. A gift of $50 was received from Dr. Norman Lindquist of Philadelphia.

Miss Becky Anderson and friend, Alyce Snell of Rochelle, N. J., students at Clarion State Teachers College, are spending a week of semester at the home of Becky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Anderson.

Costs More to Settle Estates

(TMO Harrisburg Bureau)
HARRISBURG — As of the first of the year, costs have gone up for settling an estate in Warren and other sixth-class counties throughout the state. Under terms of legislation signed into law by the Governor, there is, for example, the case of letters testamentary for probate of wills and the granting of letters testamentary.

Previously in estates not exceeding $1000 the fee was $9.50 for the first page, with a charge of $1 for each additional page. The first page fee has been dropped to $9, but the charge for each additional page has been increased to $2 per page (regardless of estate size).

For those estates ranging between $1000 and $5000, the old fee was $12 for the first page, as opposed to the new rate of $13, and in the case of estates between $5000 and $10,000, the fee has been increased from $16 to $17 for first pages.

The old single category of estates from $10,000 to $50,000 with a first page fee of $18.50 has now been eliminated in favor of the following four new categories: $10,000 to $20,000 — first page fee $21; $20,000 to $30,000 — $25; $30,000 to $40,000 — $29; $40,000 to $50,000 — $33.

The old fee of $23.50 per first page for estates between $50,000 to $100,000 for letters testamentary has been eliminated in favor of these two new categories: estates of $50,000 to $75,000 — $37; and $75,000 to $100,000 — $45.

What about estates over $100,000? The first page fee used to be $28.50; now it's $45, plus $10 additional for each $100,000 or fraction thereof above the first $100,000.

Govt. Publishes Handbook For Local Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal government, saying it wants local communities to know better how they can participate in the myriad of federal assistance programs, announced today publication of "Handbook for Local Officials."

The book, a guide to the federal programs available to state and local governments, is designed to let mayors, councilmen, commissioners, city managers and other state and local officials and private citizens "pick out programs that fit their needs and to guide them, without unnecessary detours, to the officials who can help them."

The volume describes a variety of federal programs and activities which relate to localities and is not limited to programs of direct assistance to local governments.

The handbook also provides a review of the kinds and sources of federal assistance available for local use.

"It is designed for use as a tool in broad policy making and comprehensive planning and programming, rather than a key to the solution of specific problems without regard to their relationships to the total local or urban scene," says a section on how to use the handbook.

The volume also was developed to be used with the "Catalog of Federal Assistance" programs, published by the Office of Economic Opportunity in cooperation with all major federal departments and agencies, which gives detailed and specific information of individual programs.

The handbook sells for $2.00 and is available through the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

More Money for Arts

NEW YORK (AP) — State governments have appropriated $6,525,000 for cultural projects during the 1967-68 fiscal year.

The total is an increase of $1.7 million over the previous year and of $8.4 million from 1965-66. The sum is in addition to $2 million disbursed by the National Endowment for the Arts.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on January 23, 1968, the Commissioners of Warren County adopted the following Ordinance which shall become effective on February 1, 1968. The maps and plans referred to in the Ordinance are on file and may be examined at the Planning Office in the Warren County Court House at Warren, Pennsylvania.

Commissioners of Warren County
G. Shea, Chief Clerk

ORDINANCE NO. 8

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNTY OF WARREN, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AMENDING ORDINANCE NUMBER 1 OF 1965, THE 1965 ZONING ORDINANCE OF WARREN COUNTY, BY CREATING DISTRICTS OR ZONES IN THE TOWNSHIP OF SOUTH WEST AND THE BOROUGH OF SUGAR GROVE AND WITHIN SAID DISTRICTS OR ZONES REGULATING AND RESTRICTING THE LOCATION, HEIGHT, BULK AND SIZE OF BUILDINGS AND OTHER STRUCTURE, THE PERCENTAGE OF LOTS WHICH MAY BE OCCUPIED, THE SIZE OF LOTS, COURTS AND OTHER OPEN SPACES, THE DENSITY AND DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION, THE LOCATION AND USE OF BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY, RESIDENCE, RECREATION, PUBLIC ACTIVITIES AND OTHER PURPOSES AND THE USE OF LAND FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY, RECREATION, AGRICULTURE, FORESTRY, SOIL CONSERVATION, WATER SUPPLY, CONSERVATION, SANITARY LAND FILLS AND OTHER PURPOSES, ESTABLISHING THE BOUNDARIES OF SAID DISTRICTS, ALL OF WHICH SHALL BE SUBJECT TO REGULATION, RESTRICTION, ADMINISTRATION, INTERPRETATION, AMENDMENT AND ENFORCEMENT, ALL AS PROVIDED BY SAID 1965 ZONING ORDINANCE OF WARREN COUNTY.

WHEREAS, the Warren County Planning and Zoning Commission has, after public hearing held by it, recommended to the Commissioners of Warren County that the provisions of the 1968 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County be extended so as to apply to lands and buildings and the uses thereof within the Township of South West and the Borough of Sugar Grove, and recommended the creation of districts or zones within said Township and Borough as set forth on a proposed zoning map recommended to the County Commissioners, and

WHEREAS, all other matters and things required to be done by the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order that the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Warren may avail themselves of the powers conferred by said laws have been done and complied with,

NOW THEREFORE, the Board of County Commissioners, pursuant to the authority conferred on them by the Act of Assembly of 1955, August 9, P.L. 323, as amended and supplemented, hereby ordains and enacts as follows:

SECTION 1. CREATION OF DISTRICTS

For the purpose of promoting the health, safety, morals and general welfare of the County and the residents thereof, districts, as defined, regulated and provided for by the 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County, are hereby created in the Township of South West and the Borough of Sugar Grove, all as shown on a map thereof made a part of this Ordinance and designated as The 1965 Zoning Map of Warren County, Parts 10 and 11.

SECTION 2. ZONING MAP

The boundaries of said districts are established as shown on said map entitled The 1965 Zoning Map of Warren County, Parts 10 and 11. Said zoning map and all explanatory material on it is made a part of this Ordinance.

The Chief Clerk shall certify said zoning map as a part of the 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County and shall keep it on file in his office.

SECTION 3. DISTRICTS MADE SUBJECT TO 1965 ZONING ORDINANCE OF WARREN COUNTY

Within said districts, no structure or land shall hereafter be used or occupied and no structure shall hereafter be erected, constructed, reconstructed, moved or structurally altered, nor shall any other use of lands or buildings be made except in conformity with said 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County. Within said districts, all provisions of said 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County shall, after the effective date of this Ordinance, apply with full force and effect including without limiting the generality of the foregoing, provisions relating to interpretation, enforcement, penalties and amendments of said Ordinance.

SECTION 4. SEVERABILITY

Said 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County shall, except as heretofore and now supplemented and amended, remain in full force and effect and the invalidity of all or any portion of this ordinance and amendment shall not in any way effect the validity of said 1965 Zoning Ordinance of Warren County.

SECTION 5. EFFECTIVE DATE

This Ordinance shall take effect on February 1, 1968.

SECTION 6. ADOPTION

Approved, ordained and enacted this 23rd day of January, 1968.
